INDIA NEED NOT DEPEND ON ANYONE: RAJNATH

HAL's LCA will lead to better surveillance along borders: Defmin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh on Tuesday said that India cannot remain dependent on other countries for its defence needs and that the indigenously-developed Light Combat Aircraft Tejas is better than its foreign equivalents on several parameters and is comparatively cheaper.

Giving a boost to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Aatmanirbhar initiative, Singh, who inaugurated a state-of-the-art production line for Tejas (Plant - II) of Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL), said that the indigenous aircraft not only means better surveillance at borders, but also adds to the self-respect of Indians.

"HAL's new LCA facility is an example of how 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat' is shaping and HAL deserves the largest indigenous order of 83 LCA Mk-IA at Rs 48,000 crore. The aircraft is the pride of India and sends the right message to others that India can make fighters of class in-house. The country will achieve the target of ₹1.75 lakh crore in the field of defence manufacturing in a few years," he said.

On biennial Aero India 2021, which is beginning here on Wednesday, he said that the air show will propel India as a defence manufacturing hub and the country will soon be the most powerful defence economy in the world. Fourteen countries are participating in Aero India 2021, which has so far got a total of 601 exhibitors, of which 523 are Indian and 78 foreign. Besides, there are 248 virtual exhibitors. P7

Govt ready for talks, kisans harden stance

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ON a day the government said it is ready to talk to the protesting farmers, agitators upped the ante and said there would be no discussion until 'harassment' by the police and administration stops and detained farmers are released.

Proceedings at Parliament were disrupted, too, with sessions in the Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha repeatedly adjourned following Opposition protests.

The Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) hit out at the government for digging trenches, fixing nails on roads, setting up barbed-wire fences, and stopping internet services at protest sites.

"It appears the government is extremely fearful of the rising tide of support for the ongoing protest from different states," an SKM statement read.

Bharatiya Kisan Union leader Rakesh Tikait, who has been camping at the Ghazipur border, reiterated that protests will continue until their demands are met. "This is now a fight for the freedom of farmers," he said.

Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut visited Ghazipur to express solidarity.

Amid ruckus in both houses, Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said the "government is ready to discuss issues related to farmers inside and outside Parliament". He said the government is committed to discussing the issues. Tomar's reply came after Congress MP Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury claimed 170 farmers died during the agitation.

However, SKM said it has not received any proposal for talks. "Though no formal proposal for talks came from the government, we clearly state that talks will be held only after the unconditional release of farmers who are in illegal police custody," the statement said.

The Centre also told Lok Sabha that protesting farmers resorted to rioting, damage to property and used 'criminal force' against public servants on January 26, forcing Delhi Police to resort to tear gas, water cannons and mild force. The Lok Sabha was also informed that 39 cases were registered between September and December against the farmers. P11

CAA may not come into play before West Bengal elections

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

THE contentious Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) may not be implemented at least till July as the committees on subordinate legislation of the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha have been granted extension up to April 9 and July 9, respectively, by the Ministry of Home Affairs to frame its rules.

In other words, it will not come into play before the West Bengal elections that are expected in April-May. The numerically significant Matua community the BJP is banking on in Bengal, has been pressing the party to implement the CAA immediately. But the Centre is in no hurry as the CAA passed in December 2019 amid unprecedented chaos in Parliament, led to violent protests across the country.

Junior home minister Nityanand Rai told the Lok Sabha on Tuesday that the rules were still "under preparation". He was responding to questions by Congress member V K Sreekandan. "The Committees on Subordinate Legislation, Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha have granted extension of time up to April 9 and July 9, respectively, to frame these rules under the Citizenship (Amendment) Act, 2019," he said.

NGT panel pulls up BBMP on waste handling

Local body told to stop dumping mixed waste into landfills, achieve 100 per cent segregation by March 31

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the National Green Tribunal on solid waste management on Tuesday pulled up Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike officials for poor management of waste in the city, despite repeated timelines and assistance.

At a review meeting, where Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) officials too were present, NGT Committee Chairman, Justice Subhash B Adi, directed the BBMP to immediately stop dumping mixed waste into landfills and ensure proper segregation.

"Wherever BBMP intends to dispose of rejects into landfills, jurisdictional regional officers of KSPCB will inspect the waste and after it is confirmed that it contains only rejects and no mixed waste can it be dumped at landfills. The BBMP should take immediate action to install leachate treatment plants at all waste-processing plants and landfills and an action plan should be submitted within 30 days. As the waste segregation percentage is very poor, the BBMP should achieve 100 per cent segregation ward wise by March 31 and must submit an action plan within 10 days. The Palike must take immediate action for bio-mining of legacy waste at waste-processing sites as per CPCB guidelines and complete it within March 31. An action plan should be submitted within 15 days," said the order, a copy of which is with TNIE.

The rules specify source segregation, reuse, recycle and recovery (as per definition of Rule 2(57) of SWM rules. But even five years, they are yet to be implemented

Justice Subhash B Adi, NGT panel chairman

While BBMP officials tried to reason and explain ground problems, the NGT Committee was not pleased. To manage waste better, Justice Adi directed BBMP to tie up with the agricultural department to dispose of compost generated at waste processing plants.

He was unhappy with BBMP not showing adequate progress in disposing of solid waste as per SWM Rules, 2016. He pointed out that a maximum of three years was fixed to implement the rules to set up the processing facility and sanitary landfills at local bodies with over 5 lakh population. The rules also specify source segregation, reuse, recycle and recovery (as per definition of Rule 2(57) of SWM rules. But even five years of passage of rules, they are yet to be implemented in Bengaluru, which is a violation, he pointed out.

What's govt doing with excavators in Turahalli: Residents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALUREANS, already irked by the state government's decision to turn Turahalli forest into a tree park, were up in arms on Tuesday when they saw earthmovers being driven into the forest.

Assuming that the forest department had started felling trees, they sought the intervention of the Talaghatapura police, who arrived and asked forest officials to produce a copy of the work order.

Abdul Aleem, a resident, said that no trees have been cut. "But one cannot say when they will start. The government should reconsider its plan," he said.

City residents, especially those who live near Turahalli, have been questioning the government's decision to convert an existing forest into a tree park. Already, 35 acres of the forest has been turned into a tree park.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa announced in December that Turahalli forests would be turned into a tree park as part of Mission 2022. In January, he said that 400 acres of Turhalli would be turned into a tree park by April.

The state government had earlier issued an order directing that landfills be converted into tree parks, but it remains on paper.

Chief Conservator of Forests, Bengaluru, B Venkatesh told The New Indian Express that no trees will be cut. "The earthmovers are being used to clear weeds, clearing the view line and walkways. The tree park is being created in the periphery along the forests, which will also ensure that there is no encroachment," he said.

However, citizens are not convinced. They are demanding that state government share the work order and give it in writing that no trees will be cut. They also cited Supreme Court orders which state that existing forests cannot be altered. They also wanted to know whether the state government had the approval of the Bengaluru Urban Working Plan Management Committee before announcing such a project.

Bengaluru already has five tree parks: Turahalli minor forest, Sulikere state forest, Roerich Estate (part of Uttarahalli Manavanthe Kaval state forest), JB Kaval state forest and Kumbaranahalli state forest in Anekal.

BBMP chief raps officials over OFCs on flyover

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad on Tuesday inspected ongoing works in various parts of the city, and took stock of their progress.

At the Veerannapalya flyover from Hebbal towards KR Puram, where a portion is being constructed, he pulled up officials, asking why OFCs were laid on the bridge without the knowledge of the BBMP. Seeking a report on the matter, he directed the joint commissioners to take stern action against the officials.

Inspecting ongoing works on Thanisandra Main Road, he promised that electricity and OFC works will be completed within 45 days. After that, work on the 19-km stretch will be completed at the earliest. This work is being undertaken at a cost of Rs 65 crore. "The stretch is important as it is an alternative road to the international airport and so white topping is being done at a swift pace," the Commissioner said.

He also inspected the Rashtrothana Junction where a signal-free corridor of 459 metre is being constructed at a cost of Rs 25 crore.

FAULTY FOOTPATH

Addressing the matter of an uneven footpath, which is a feet higher than the ground level, at Jayanagar 9th Block, 36th Cross, MLA Soumya Reddy said that she was informed about the engineering error. She promised to get the footpath rectified at the earliest. Despite repeated attempts, BBMP engineers were not available for comments.

The incomplete Krsna Laburnum apartment in RMV 2nd Stage

City builder in the dock for not meeting deadline

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

OFFERING some kind of relief to flat purchasers as well as highlighting the deficiencies of the builder, the Real Estate Regulatory Authority-Karnataka (RERA-K) court has ordered Krsna Properties to offer an explanation before February 13 as to why it has not met the deadline promised to its buyers. In the absence of a satisfactory explanation, the builder is likely to be slapped with a penalty by the court, which could touch up to 10% of the property cost.

The court has finally given its interim verdict in connection with a case filed by the Krsna Laburnum Welfare Association in November 2019. The verdict was delivered on January 13 but was made public only recently.

The posh 'Krsna Laburnum' on New BEL Road in RMV II Stage, proposed in July 2014, was to be handed over to the purchasers in September-October 2016, according to the association. The residential complex was to have a total of 44 3BHK houses in the form of 4 Blocks with each a 12-storied one.

A mini swimming pool, gym, children's play area and squash court were among other amenities proposed in the Rs 36-crore project. "Members paid sums ranging between Rs 2.2 crore and Rs 3 crore, and 26 of them have purchased flats from the builder so far," said a representative of the association (name withheld), speaking on behalf of all members.

"It is 2021 now. And despite many paying the full sum, with a couple of them even paying the property registration fee in advance, the builder has not even put in place doors and windows in most houses," he said. "Though the construction firm is in the name of his father, retired Agriculture professor K Balaraman, who lives next to the proposed apartment, his son Vikram Balaraman, runs the show," he explained.

On the few occasions when the buyers confronted him, Vikram had told them that he did not have money and would complete the project when he got funds," the representative said. "He has already collected nearly Rs 80 crore from us totally. Where has the money gone?" he asked. With repeated requests to father and son falling on deaf ears, the association took them to RERA court as a last option. "This is a very important verdict for us. We only hope the building project is somehow completed," he added.

03rd February : People are still asking me about Pluto's new status, years after it was declared to be no longer a planet. What happened was that a meeting of astronomers in Prague in August 2006 declared that Pluto was not a planet, but a new type of body called a 'dwarf planet'. Most astronomers disagree with this decision and, in any case, it makes no difference at all to astrology.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Today's delicate Moon could leave you feeling strangely dissatisfied, but you won't be able to put your finger on just what it is that's bothering you. You may let your imagination roam and lead you where it will! If you have doubts about a particular arrangement then, if you're lucky, someone else might be poised to pull out.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
It's time for a fresh start socially, and certain friendships may require a new lease of life. There's no need for dramatic action, but the odd phone call or kind word will certainly help you along. You may, if you wish, spend some time pursuing a few pleasurable distractions, whatever others say.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The issues at work, as well as at home, seem to have a lot to do with authority. The stars are not being specific, but prefer to pose questions such as whether you are capable of handling current responsibilities. See to it that the answer is a definite 'yes'.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should give a little extra space to the religious dimension. It's not a question of dogma, but of following general ethical principles and checking that what you, and other people, are doing, is for the best. If you attempt to push yourself to the front now, you may be forced to take a back seat later, when you least expect it.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The gentle movement of planets through your solar chart has been nudging you towards a revision of joint financial arrangements. Today's planetary energies indicate that you've reached a welcome point, and that you can stop and check out the best step to take next.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Today's lunar alignments could be something of an anti-climax, even if they are still special. The truth is hard to gauge probably for reasons which are completely topsy-turvy! The point is that you shouldn't expect to make sense of everything, or even of anything!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You may devote more attention to improving working conditions, including domestic chores. It's not a matter of new gadgets or processes, but of changing your deep-seated attitudes, some of which have been too resistant. You'll know when the time for compromise draws near.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
A little additional creative flare is required today. One factor in your chart indicates that responsibilities for children will supersede all others, another that you should make a point of being more child-like, innocent and naive in your actions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
If there's a possibility of changes for the better at home, move quickly, for the window of opportunity will soon be closed again. In this sense your greatest failing of the day could be complacency. If you take your eyes off important matters for a moment, they might follow a course that you don't like.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The best thing you can do today is question your assumptions, change your attitudes and improve your outlook. Otherwise you are likely to perpetuate an astrological pattern which has left you worse off financially in the past. Do the right thing now and you'll turn a likely loss into a potential profit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You would do well to promote your business skills at the moment. You do seem to be in with a chance of changing your monetary direction for the better, and all you need to do is convince others that your vision of the future is the right one.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There's a great deal to sing and shout about, and today's the day to do it. Your planetary picture is ninety-nine percent favourable. Don't expect fireworks, but make as many wishes as you want! The general principle seems to be that the more you wish for, the more likely at least something is to come true!

Those who missed vaccine shot get jabs in 2nd round

Hospitals resume Covid immunisation after lull in past week

IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru

WHILE many health workers have missed their appointment to receive the Covid-19 vaccine, the second round of vaccination is said to start in the coming week.

The progress of the vaccination drive slowed in the past week due to administrative work and the Pulse Polio programme which started on January 31 and will be completed by February 3.

However, while some private hospitals in the city have already begun the second round of vaccinations, others are awaiting clearance from the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike to reach out to health workers who have missed their scheduled first dose. Other hospitals said they decided to wait until the polio vaccine drive is completed.

At Aster CMI Hospital, 700 people have been vaccinated so far and the hospital has even started the second round. "We have started vaccination for people who had missed out during the initial drive. With the support of local BBMP and health care professionals, the response now is far better. More health workers are stepping forward and are more confident while taking the shot. This has resulted in a better turnover at our units," said Dr Swati Rajagopal, consultant for infectious diseases at Aster CMI Hospital.

BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad told TNIE that many hospitals have already begun vaccinating those who missed their shot, and the ones who have not begun will start soon. "Those who missed their vaccination due to personal reasons or apprehensions can get the shot now. We have allowed the hospitals to give the jab. Many private hospitals have already begun giving the jab to those who missed the appointment."

Dr HDR Radhakrishna, medical superintendent at CV Raman General Hospital said, "We have not yet started with the second round, but we have got information that we can begin after the pulse polio programme drive. As many staffers are engaged in it, we will start the vaccination later."

Dr S N Aravinda, consultant for internal medicine at Aster RV Hospital said, "The first round of vaccination is still under way and for those who have missed it, on February 4 their names will be included in the new list on the portal, after which they can receive it. Healthcare workers are generally aware about the advantages of taking the vaccine so they are keen on it. There was some hesitation initially when government introduced the vaccine, but now it is on track."

In a first, Dharwad sees zero new Covid cases

Hubballi: Dharwad district reported zero Covid-19 cases on Tuesday, which is the first such instance after the district began detecting cases in March 2020. Since May last year, the district has reported multiple cases each day, with a peak of around 300 cases each day in September-October. As on February 1, the district has 49 active cases, of which 20 people are asymptomatic and in home isolation, and remaining are being treated at KIMS Hubballi and private hospitals in the twin cities of Hubballi and Dharwad. District Health Officer Dr Yashwant Madinkar said the district was conducting over 2,500 tests every day. Deputy Commissioner Nitesh Patil said officials were emphasising the importance of physical distancing and that those who do not wear masks are fined.

Panel to meet CM over cinema seating

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ALTHOUGH the Centre has permitted cinema halls to function with full seating capacity, the state government has said that film theatres must continue at half capacity till February 28.

The decision, taken to preempt the rise of Covid cases which are at a low, has not gone down well with producers and distributors, as several big ticket films are set to release soon.

February 19 is set to see the release of 'Pogaru', starring Rashmika Mandanna and Dhruva Sarja. This would be the first major release in recent weeks, and the film is set to release in three languages, namely, Kannada, Telugu, and Tamil.

A delegation from the Karnataka Film Chamber of Commerce, headed by its president Jayaraj, is set to meet Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Wednesday, demanding that cinema halls be allowed to function at full capacity.

A circular issued by the Department of Health said that although there had been a decline in cases, it was advisable to follow the Central health ministry's guidelines. "However, after reviewing the current scenario of Covid-19 and considering a possible second wave, it has been decided that as a matter of abundant precaution and in the larger interest of public health, 50 per cent capacity of seating in cinema halls shall continue till 28th of February," the circular said.

SOPs

- For workplaces - Wherever feasible, work from home may continue, otherwise, full attendance is permissible. Otherwise full attendance is permissible.
- Shops, malls, multiplexes and entertainment parks - Depending on the size, entry shall be regulated to avoid crowding. Special events that attract crowds shall be avoided.
- Hotels and restaurants should not exceed the full seating capacity

Man befriends woman online, molests her

ENS @Bengaluru

ANNAPURNESHWARI Nagar police on Monday arrested a man for allegedly molesting a woman whom he befriended on a social networking site. The suspect has been identified as Shravan Kumar (26), a native of Chittoor in Andhra Pradesh.

A police officer said the victim (32) is a receptionist at a private clinic. She had shared her number with Shravan, after meeting him online. The two were speaking with each other since a few months, and two months ago, Shravan came to meet her and began working at a juice shop in Nagarbhavi.

He met her several times, but she eventually started avoiding him. Shravan then began threatening to end his life, which led to her blocking his number. On Monday, he arrived at the clinic and allegedly molested her. She raised an alarm and called police, who arrived and caught him.

Rivalry case: CBI files chargesheet against ex-minister Vinay Kulkarni

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Former minister Vinay Kulkarni, accused in the murder of BJP Zilla Panchayat member Yogeesh Goudar, had "personal enmity and political rivalry" with the latter, the Central Bureau of Investigation has said in a supplementary charge sheet filed against Kulkarni, Chandrashekhar Indi and Shivananand Birdar before the special court in Dharwad.

Yogeesh was killed outside his gym on June 15, 2016 by unidentified men. The CBI had arrested Kulkarni in November last year. He has been in judicial custody since.

The CBI said Yogeesh had declined Kulkarni's request to step back from contesting the ZP election in 2016.

Investigations have reportedly revealed that Kulkarni allegedly "conspired with close associates and one of them agreed to execute the murder. The accused had allegedly entered into a land deal to portray a purported land dispute as the motive for the murder. Further, three country-made pistols were also seized by the CBI," a CBI spokesperson said.

The killers, who had come from Bengaluru, were made to stay at a "resort owned by a confidant of Kulkarni on June 7, 2016, when they first made an attempt to murder Yogeesh. One of Kulkarni's associates had arranged other accused from Bengaluru and they had visited Dharwad on two occasions. On the first occasion, the accused stayed in a resort at Dandeli, which was allegedly arranged by Kulkarni. They fled the scene after the commission of the crime," the CBI stated.

Kulkarni had won the Dharwad Assembly seat in 2013 but was defeated in 2018 by BJP's Amrut Ayyappa Desai.

The CBI took over the probe in September 2019. The initial probe by the local police had cited property dispute as the motive while the CBI probe shows that it was a "political murder", said the agency. The police had filed the final report on September 9, 2016, and had chargesheeted six people from Dharwad – Basavaraj Muttagi, Vikram Ballari, Keerthi Kumar, Sandeep Savadatti, Vinayak Katagi and Mahabaleshwar Hongal alias Mudaka.

In March last year the CBI arrested Santosh Savadatti, Dinesh M, Sunil K S, Harshith, Ashwath S, Nazeer Ahmad, Shahnawaz and Nutan K S. The CBI charged them in May.

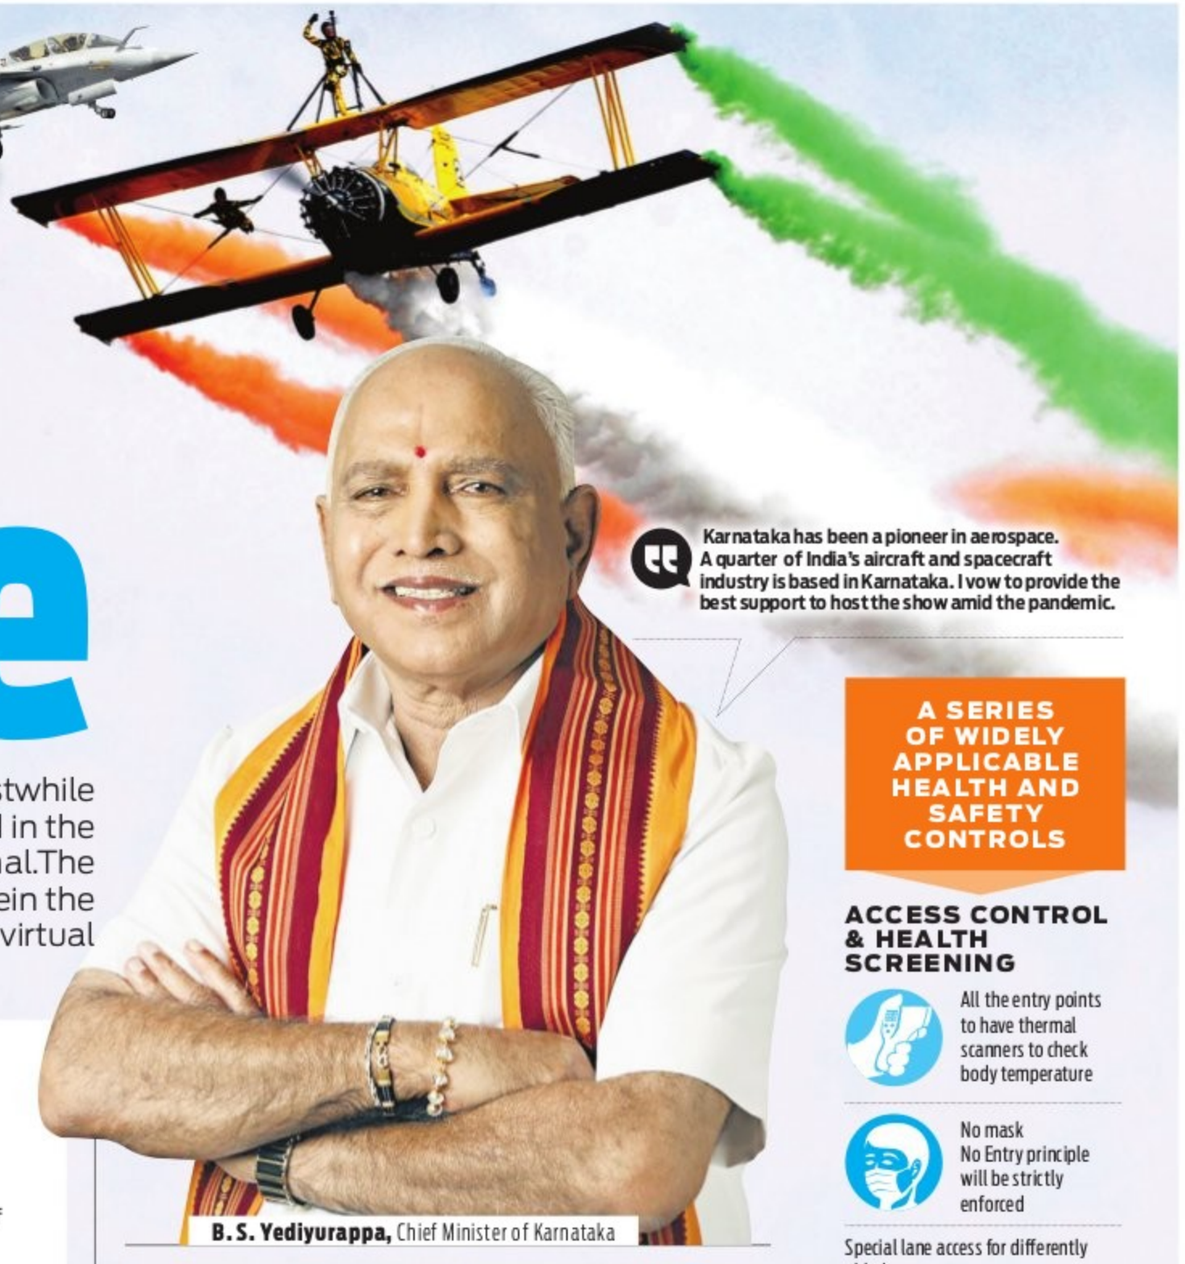
The COVID-19 pandemic has put an impasse on business in its erstwhile format and few Aerospace & Defence (A&D) exhibitions have been witnessed in the year 2020. Aero India-21 heralds 2021 and adapts itself to the new normal.The three-day event is unique as it will be the world's first hybrid exhibition wherein the business element of the event will be both physical as well as virtual



B. S. Yediyurappa, Chief Minister of Karnataka

Karnataka has been a pioneer in aerospace. A quarter of India's aircraft and spacecraft industry is based in Karnataka. I vow to provide the best support to host the show amid the pandemic.

Jagadish Shettar, Minister for Large and medium scale industries, Government of Karnataka

INDIA'S resolve for self-reliance has gained momentum with a series of policies announced during 2020 with the aim to Make in India and Make for the World. Aero India has already carved a niche for itself and is Asia's Largest Aerospace exhibitions.

From a modest beginning in 1996, the silver jubilee of the Aeroshow signifies new beginnings. The event will connect experts, sectors, and industries and promote A&D businesses between world manufacturers most of whom are eager to be a part of the event.

The most important factor has been to ensure that the event adapts to the health & safety guidelines and provides the right environment for people to meet. The organisers aim for Aero India-21 to be adapted to the International standards of reopening businesses through exhibitions.

Five of HAL's indigenous aircraft in the fixed and rotary wing category are set to fly in formation in a unique display titled 'Aatmanirbhar Formation Flight' comprising Light Combat Aircraft trainer (LIFT Trainer), HTT-40, Intermediate Jet Trainer, Advanced Hawk Mk-132 and Civil Do-228. HTT-40, Advanced Hawk Mk 132 and Civil Do-228 will also be available for customer demonstration flights. Sukhoi 30 MKI, Advanced Light Helicopter Dhruv, Light Combat Helicopter, Light Utility Helicopter will also take part in the flying display separately. Static display will include Do-228, Hindustan Turbo Trainer-40 and LUH and ALH Mk III.HAL's major attraction at HALL-E will be the Combat Air Teaming System simulator.

United States participation in Aero India 2021 is another example of the deepening defense and strategic partnership between the United States and India.

Leading U.S. defense companies are participating, including Aerospace Quality Research & Development LLC, Airborn Inc., Boeing, IEH Corporation, GE Aviation, General Atomics, Hi-Tech Import Export Corporation, L3Harris, Laversab India, Lockheed Martin, and Trakka Systems. Among the highlights of the show, a B-1B Lancer heavy bomber, of the 28th Bomb Wing based out of Ellsworth Air Force Base in South Dakota, will perform a "fly-by." In the spirit of bilateral support, the United States Air Force Band of the Pacific based out of Hawaii will perform with Indian percussion (ghatam) artist Giridhar Udupa.

THE LOGO

The logo for Aero India is inspired by the Tejas Light Combat Aircraft (LCA). The Tejas LCA's single engine, Compound-Delta-Wing, Tailless Aircraft is designed and developed to meet diverse needs of the Indian Air Force (IAF) and Indian Navy (IN).The Tejas LCA programme has achieved the rare distinction of completing over 4000 Successful Test Flights. The tri-colored silhouette of the Tejas LCA with the Ashok Chakra in the centre is the core motif of this logo, reminiscent of the spirit of New India. The defined outlines of the 'A' in Aero is symbolic of a fighter jet while conveying that Aero India is a premier global aerospace exhibition.

AERO INDIA-21 SHOULD BE A TEMPLATE FOR THE WORLD: RAJNATH SINGH

DEFENSE minister Rajnath Singh had reviewed the preparation for Aero India - 21 during the Apex Committee meeting on 15th January 2021 in Bengaluru. Aero India 2021 is a keenly anticipated event which is now being conducted as a business event.

This three-day event is unique as it will be the World's first hybrid exhibition wherein the business element of the event will be both physical as well as virtual.

During the meeting, the Defense Minister emphasised on the safe conduct of the event and making it inclusive for the world A&D industry. He said that the hybrid model of Aero India - 21 should be the template for the world to emulate conduct of business in the new normal till the concerns of the pandemic are addressed.

Aero India-21 is now being held simultaneously as a physical exhibition and a virtual exhibition with stalls being provided in both the physical and virtual realms which will result in greater engagement and the exhibitors will experience a greater outreach catering to those who could not join the event physically.

Aero India being one of the major international Aerospace and Defence (A&D) exhibitions, requires active participation, shared responsibility and synchronised efforts at all levels. Towards defining the roles and responsibilities, an MoU was signed on the margins of the meeting between Government of India and Government of Karnataka. The theme of the event is "Runway to a Billion Opportunities", in keeping with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision for Atmanirbhar Bharat.

In a first-of-its-kind initiative, the event itself will showcase India's resolve to be first amongst first. The indigenous technological and logistic prowess will be at the fore and the event will embolden our Aerospace and Defence industry, Start-ups, MSMEs to forge partnerships with Foreign OEMs who are also keen to attend.

The meeting was attended by Chief Minister of Karnataka B. S. Yediyurappa and Chief Secretary of Karnataka P. Ravi Kumar, Chief of Defence Staff General Bipin Rawat and Secretary of the Department of Defence Production Raj Kumar,AOC in C Southern Command Air Marshal RK Mathur, GoC in C Southern Command Lt Gen CP Mohanty and other senior officials.

2021 AERO INDIA
The Runway to a Billion Opportunities

ULTIMATE TAKE OFF IS NOW

KARNATAKA is home to India's Aerospace industry. The establishment of Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) in 1940 heralded the aerospace activities in Bangalore. Subsequent establishment of defence public sector undertakings and R&D institutions like BEML, BHEL, GTRE, NAL, DRDO, ADA, ADE, ISRO, MSc etc., positioned Karnataka as a prime location for Aerospace industry in India.

Karnataka has a high potential to emerge as an Aerospace Hub due to following strengths and advantages:

- A relatively low cost aerospace manufacturing and MRO activities in Asia and Middle East providing a competitive edge.
- Presence of defence PSUs and scientific and technical institutes along with research and development agencies.
- Expertise in aerospace with more than 2000 SMEs which execute niche subcontracting workforthe DPSUs.
- Bangalore being recognized as the Silicon Valley of India has a number of top companies in IT/ITES and electronics hardware, many of them being a part of the supply chain to the Aerospace sector.
- Maximum number of engineering graduates in the country, with a large number of them employed in IT, design & engineering affirming advantageous position with reference to skill sets.

Karnataka intends to take advantage of the promising scenario and strive to project the State as the aerospace hub for Asia in the next 5 years and as one of the top global aerospace and MRO destinations by 2023.

Despite the strengths that, Aerospace industry in Karnataka enjoys, the industry faces various challenges both at institutional as well as at the operational level. Focusing all energies and resources to overcome these challenges and building on critical areas of opportunities and strengths can lead to sustained competitive advantage for the State in the long term. Keeping these points in view, the State formulated Karnataka Aerospace Policy to provide enabling environment for investors in Aerospace Sector.

Phase-II (2018-23)

- Attract investments to the tune of Rs. 36,000 crores (6 Billion USD) in the Aerospace Sector.
- Create additional employment opportunities (direct and indirect) about 60,000 persons in the next five years by a process of inclusive development.
- Enhance the contribution of Aerospace sector towards increasing the share of industry in the State's GDP from 30% to 32%.

Scope/Coverage

The scope of policy includes both 'Aerospace Industry' and 'Aerospace Infrastructure'.

Aerospace Industry shall include the units in the aerospace value chain from raw material to finished products which add value to aerospace products / intermediates / residues both hardware and software.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Ahead of the world's first hybrid air show, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Tuesday sought to showcase India as a defence economy and manufacturing hub. He said the decision to organise Aero India 2021 was not easy, given the challenge posed by the pandemic and tension along the borders.

"The decision to organise Aero India in these testing times wasn't easy. Our robust stance and the unrelenting spirit of the soldiers on the borders led to stabilisation of the situation," Singh said, referring to the stand-off with China.

Singh was speaking at the curtain-raiser of Aero India at the Indian Air Force station in Yelahanka. He said the air show would pave the path for a transformation of the world's largest democracy into the world's most powerful defence economy. "It will position India as an investment, innovation and defence manufacturing hub, while providing unprecedented access, insights and opportunities to participants to connect and collaborate with Indian and global leaders," he said.

Aero India will help Karnataka further consolidate its position as one of the most favoured investment destinations and emerge as one of the gateways to invest in the defence sector in India, he added. For the first time, the President will attend the event on the last day.

A meeting of Defence Ministers of Indian Ocean Region is one of the key highlights of the event. While defence ministers from many IOR countries are attending the event, some will be joining the February 4 meeting virtually. The ministers and delegates from the IOR nations will discuss strategic issues and humanitarian assistance. "The conclave would reinforce the relevance of the region and its continued importance for stakeholders, from the perspective of trade, security and freedom of navigation," Singh said.

Air Chiefs' conclave today

Senior Air Force officers from India and other countries will discuss issues like common threats and measures to enhance cooperation, at the Air Chiefs' conclave scheduled for Wednesday. "It will bring a host of senior air force officers from around the world on a single platform. It will provide an opportunity to enhance cooperation among countries," Singh said.

AERO India 2021's full dress rehearsal on Tuesday lifted the hearts of defence personnel and government employees and their families for whom special entry was granted to watch the event, a day ahead of the three-day event starting on Wednesday.

What stole the show was the joint aerobatics demonstration by India's two most popular defence aerobatic teams - Suryakiran and Sarang. This was the very first time that these two teams have jointly performed aerobatics, stopping hearts with a 13-aircraft aerobatic display - the most that the event has seen till date.

Another star attraction was the two teams drawing a heart each using trail smoke against the background of the blue sky, triggering gasps among the audience watching the spectacle from below.

The nine-aircraft Suryakiran team flew Hawk MKI aircraft while Sarang flew four Advanced Light Helicopters (ALH) from the HAL stable.

The dress rehearsal began at 10.30 am with a fly-past of a single Rafale fighter, India's latest acquisition, followed by three-aircraft formation of the Light Combat Aircraft, Tejas. This was followed by a similar formation of Sukhois, before a fly-past by a special formation of five aircraft, all India's indigenous products -- LCA trainer (LIFT Trainer), HTT-40, Intermediate Jet Trainer (IJT), Advanced Hawk Mk 132 and Civil Do-228 - called 'Aatmanirbhar Formation Flight'.

The event has been cut to just three business days as against the normal five days due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

The show will also see aviation major Boeing exhibit a range of advanced capabilities including the F/A-18 Block III Super Hornet.

Salil Gupte, president, Boeing India, said, "We are excited about the potential for partnership and growth in India and look forward to the dialogue with our customers, partners and industry at Aero India 2021." Boeing has also announced the Boeing India Repair Development and Sustainment (BIRDS) hub.

Aero India 2021 has so far got a total of 601 exhibitors, of which 523 are Indian and 78 are foreign. Besides, there are 248 virtual exhibitors.

This is the first aviation event to have gone into a hybrid mode -- physical attendance as well as virtual -- the latter accessible through aeroindiavirtual.in. Those interested to experience the event in the virtual mode can register through the website to get a near-real experience of attending the event being held at Air Force Station Yelahanka.

Biden govt to deepen ties with India, says US official

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE United States' defence ties with India will continue to deepen under President Joe Biden, Kelli L Seybolt, United States Air Force Deputy Undersecretary, International Affairs, said on Tuesday.

The declaration of India as a major defence partner of the US by the previous administration was a huge milestone, said Seybolt, who is in Bengaluru to attend Aero India 2021.

"India is one of our premier security partners in the Indo-Pacific and together we are deepening defense ties through avenues like exercises, cooperative agreements, and the integration of advanced US defence systems and platforms into the Indian armed services," Seybolt said.

US Chargé d'Affaires Don Heflin said India plays a key role in the Indo-Pacific region, and cooperation between the two countries advances a shared vision of a rules-based international order that promotes the prosperity and security of all countries, he added.

US officials said a B-1B Lancer heavy bomber will perform a "fly-by" during the inaugural ceremony. This is the first time a US bomber has touched down in India.

Defmin: LCA plant example of Aatmanirbhar Bharat

MG CHETAN @Bengaluru

THE Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL), which has bagged the order to produce 83 LCA Mk-1A aircraft, has set up a state-of-the-art production line — LCA Tejas Division (Plant - II) — on Doddanekkundi Road in South-East Bengaluru. The first aircraft is slated to roll out in 36 months and HAL will deliver 16 aircraft in a year to the Indian Air Force.

The facility, spread across 35 acres, was inaugurated by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Tuesday.

He said that Tejas, the multi-role combat role, is robust in features compared to foreign aircraft and is also low-cost. Several foreign countries are interested in Tejas and export of the aircraft can soon be a reality, he added.

"HAL's new LCA facility is an example of how 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat' is shaping.

LCA is the pride of India and sends the right message to others that India can make fighters of class in-house. Indigenous aircraft not only means better surveillance at borders but it adds to the self-respect of Indians.

We will make HAL stronger, whatever it takes. Under the 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat Abhiyan', the country is looking forward to increasing its defence manufacturing capabilities," he said, adding that India will achieve the target of Rs 1.75 lakh crore in defence manufacturing in a few years.

"Karnataka is long known for its software leadership. But it has also become the innovation capital of India and I salute this spirit.

The award of this huge contract to HAL is the result of this spirit. This is just the beginning of an inspiring story with many amazing chapters to unfold," he said.

Will ban hookah bars, says Bommai

BENGALURU: The State government has decided to intensify its war against the drug menace by formulating stringent rules, and also ban hookah bars. Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday informed the Legislative Assembly that though NDPS is a Central Act, the State has powers to make changes. There are several lacunae in the current rules and the changes will "make them sharper", he said. Responding to Congress MLA Sowmya Reddy's question on action taken to tackle the drug menace, he said they are working on all angles, including amending laws. Bommai said around 70 cases were booked against hookah bars last year, but that is not enough as youngsters are addicted to hookah bars.

BENGALURU: Amid a demand by legislators for a permanent authority to monitor fraudulent finance companies, the Legislative Assembly on Tuesday passed the Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Bill, 2020. Deputy CM Govind Karjol, speaking on behalf of CM B S Yediyurappa, said the government is bringing in an amendment to the 2004 Act, to protect the interest of depositors. The Bill increases penal provisions for those convicted, with imprisonment increased from three to seven years and fines extending up to ₹10 lakh.

BENGALURU: By passing the Karnataka Epidemic Diseases Bill (Amendment), 2020, the government is allowing health department officials to levy penalty on those who violate guidelines during the epidemic. Replying to the House, Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar said officials will be given power to levy penalty. However, when a few legislators raised objection and said they might misuse and book people over vested interest, Sudhakar said officials will not be allowed to decide the punishment or increase penalty amount.

CM cancels spl cabinet meeting, sets off a buzz

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa, who had called for a rare 'special cabinet meeting' at 6pm Tuesday, suddenly cancelled it, leading to intense speculation in party circles. The meeting was cancelled as suddenly as it was announced, quite contrary to organised cabinet meetings, where the agenda is circulated to members. The CMO called the Dy CMs and ministers and informed them that the special meeting was cancelled.

Another meeting, though, did take place on Monday afternoon. The BJP is abuzz with talk of a group of 10 senior legislators, who were left out of the cabinet expansion, meeting for lunch in the chamber of Chief Whip Sunil Kumar. They included Siddu Savadi, Thippa Reddy, Arvind Bellad, Satish Reddy, Kalakappa Bandi, Ravindranath, Abhay Patil and others. Asked about it, Sunil Kumar confirmed the luncheon, and said, "We meet regularly. Is it wrong to gather for lunch?" Sources said the CM had called up Sunil Kumar after he realised that a lunch had been organised. Kumar had recently written to Arun Singh about certain complaints within the party.

Another incident doing the party rounds is of the CM, who was watching the budget in his chamber in Vidhana Soudha, hastily walking out without informing his staff or security detail. When they realised the CM had left, security staff ran down, hoping to catch up with Yediyurappa, who had reached the exit gate near the Kengal Hanumanthaiah statue and was waiting patiently for his official car. Soudha staff said that both security and his vehicle are always ready when the chief minister steps out.

When asked, Sunil Kumar said the incidents are not related.

BSY's dinner diplomacy quells some dissent

CM B S Yediyurappa on Tuesday played host to more than 100 party legislators. The dinner party comes at a time legislators had been publicly, and behind closed doors, expressing dissent over various issues. Around 25 legislators gave the party a miss. MLAs like Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, who have taken on the CM in public, and Sunil Kumar, Arvind Bellad and SA Ramadas, who have made their displeasure explicit at party platforms, stayed away. "I have nothing against the CM or the party. I have expressed my displeasure over certain issues and the party will take care of it." said MP Renukacharya. Even MLC H Vishwanath, who has minced no words in attacking the CM, was present, while JC Madhuswamy preferred to keep away. ENS

It's a small high in K'taka's excise revenues

Despite a year marred by the pandemic, collections between April 2020 and January 2021 show a gain of 3.38%

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

IML and beer sales have seen a steep decline in the period under review | FILE

THE State Excise revenue for the current financial year has gone up marginally compared to the last FY, even though there is a steep decline in the sale of Indian Made Liquor (IML) and beer. The revenue collection between April 2020 and January 2021 shows a gain of 3.38 per cent, compared to the corresponding period in the last fiscal.

According to department statistics, between April last year and January 31, the revenue collection was ₹18,689.76 crore, as against ₹18,078.92 crore during the previous FY, showing an increase of ₹610.84 crore this fiscal. The revenue target for 2020-'21 was ₹22,700 crore. It was ₹20,950 crore for the previous year.

As regards a slump in the sale of IML and beer, the state charts show that the Karnataka State Beverage Corporation Limited (KSBCL) had sold 509.19 lakh case boxes (CBs) of IML in 2019-20, while it sold only 472.69 lakh CBs in 2020-21.

Beer sales have seen a steeper decline in the current fiscal with only 180.16 lakh CBs being sold in 2020-21, as against 241.78 lakh CBs in the previous year, registering a -25.49 per cent decline in the current fiscal, as compared to the previous FY. One CB contains 8.64 litres of alcohol.

The reason in increase in excise revenue is largely the steep hike in the Additional Excise Duty (AED) on all slabs of IML in May last year, soon after the government allowed the reopening of CL2 (retail liquor stores) and MSIL stores to mop up the additional ₹2,500 crore revenue.

All liquor outlets were closed during the first lockdown between March 25 and May 7, 2020 and excise revenue had taken a big hit. It was only in the third quarter of 2020-21 that the department's revenue collection at ₹16,405 crore had surpassed the mop-up of ₹16,218 crore during the corresponding period in 2019-20.

2013 ATM ATTACKER GETS 10 YRS IN JAIL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

I expected a bigger punishment, but I respect the court order. I have never visited an ATM after the attack, which was a traumatic experience for me

Jyothi Uday, the victim

THE City Civil and Sessions Court on Tuesday sentenced Madhukar Reddy -- who had brutally assaulted bank employee Jyothi Uday inside an ATM kiosk at NR Junction in the city on November 19, 2013 -- to 10 years' imprisonment. The incident had taken place in broad daylight, with a CCTV camera within the kiosk capturing the graphic scene.

Reddy was convicted for robbery by brutal attack on the woman, and also for destruction of evidence.

Speaking to TNIE, public prosecutor MV Thyagaraj said that judge Rajeshwar read out the sentence, even as Reddy's counsel pleaded for minimum punishment, claiming his mother is bedridden, and dependent on him for care. His father passed away a few years ago. The court, however, said that considering the brutality of the crime and the criminal background of the convict, it has awarded maximum punishment. The court also slapped a fine of ₹10,000 on the convict and directed the district legal service authority to suitably compensate the victim.

It may be recalled that the incident occurred when Jyothi entered the ATM to withdraw cash. Reddy barged in after her and closed the shutter. She pleaded with him to let her go, but he attacked her with a machete multiple times. He then escaped leaving her profusely bleeding. The entire incident, whose CCTV footage went viral, had created fear among people visiting ATMs. Soon after it came to light, the city police formed as many as 15 teams to track down the assailant. The then police commissioner even cracked the whip on those ATMs with inadequate security, ordering jurisdictional police to shut them down until suitable security measures were put in place.

Reddy, who was on the run for several years, was finally arrested by Madanapalli police in 2017, after he was identified by a policeman on patrol.

Meanwhile, Jyothi told TNIE: "He (Reddy) should learn a lesson and no one should be a victim like this. I expected a bigger punishment, but I respect the court order. I have never visited an ATM after the attack, which was a traumatic experience for me."

HC warns govt on manual scavengers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN THE HC

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday said that before it considered issuing drastic orders, it was granting one more opportunity to the State Government to comply with its various directions on the manual scavengers issue.

It observed that there was absolutely no compliance of the provisions of the Prevention of the Prohibition of Employment as Manual Scavengers and their Rehabilitation Act, 2013 and Rules in the state.

Hearing two separate public interest litigations filed by the All India Central Council of Trade Unions and the High Court Legal Services Committee, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum directed the government to submit the details of action taken about the two manual scavengers suffocated to death in a manhole in Kalaburagi on January 28, 2021. On December 9, 2020, the court had issued directions to place on record the details of number of FIRs registered for violation of the Act, data about the number of insanitary latrines throughout the state and also about conversion or demolition of such latrines. It had directed the government to submit affidavits complying with the directions on or before January 30.

Going through the compliance report, the HC said even seven years after the Act was enacted, it was hardly implemented in Karnataka. The petitioners are right in their contention that it is only due to the failure to implement the Act that two persons, forced into manual scavenging, have lost their lives, the court said. It directed the government to submit details of action taken.

HC seeks action report in blast case

BENGALURU: The HC on Tuesday asked the government to inform it about action taken against the persons responsible for the blast at Hunasodu in Shivamogga district. A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum was hearing a PIL filed by advocate K B Vijayakumar. The court also ordered notice to the state. "The matter should be handed over to the CBI before evidence is destroyed," the petitioner requested the High Court.

Taking a cue from the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, UDF has once again brought forth the hill shrine issue as the main campaign topic | EXPRESS

CPM won't bite UDF's bait on Sabarimala

Party secretariat to keep away from issue

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

THE CPM has decided not to take the bait of Sabarimala issue that the UDF has chosen to dangle before the masses ahead of the crucial assembly elections. With the 'once bitten, twice shy' CPM realising the Congress' poll strategy of raking up Sabarimala once again, the party secretariat has decided to keep away from the issue, citing it as currently under the Supreme Court's consideration. The party also observed that the public discourse on the matter could well prove to be an advantage to BJP.

Taking a cue from the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, UDF has once again brought forth the Sabarimala issue as the main campaign topic and challenged the Left to make its stance clear. Senior Congress leader Oommen Chandy had alleged that it was the Left government's affidavit that led to the Supreme Court verdict supporting women's entry into the hill shrine. The Congress has also demanded that the government should file a fresh affidavit.

The CPM secretariat which met here on Tuesday discussed the matter and decided to keep away from the issue. There is no need for an open discussion on Sabarimala and hence there's no need to respond to the UDF challenge, the party observed. "It's a matter before the court. Let the court take a stance," Power Minister M M Mani told the media after the secretariat meeting. "The CPM has an open stance in the matter," Politburo member S Ramachandran Pillai told TNIE.

'UDF agenda will be exposed'

CPI state secretary Kanam Rajendran said the people will realise the UDF agenda of raking up the Sabarimala issue. Currently, the matter is before the court. The LDF is only continuing with its earlier stance in the matter, he said.

It's evident that UDF wants to put CPM in a spot, and bring back a situation similar to that seen during the 2019 Lok Sabha election campaign

Railway budget has no funds for Bengaluru Suburban Rail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE detailed 54-page 'Pink Book' of the Railway budgetary allocation for 2021-22, made public on Tuesday evening, did not any mention any funds for the dedicated Suburban Rail Corridor for Bengaluru, raising concern and uncertainty. The total plan outlay for South Western Railway Zone is Rs 2096.63 crore.

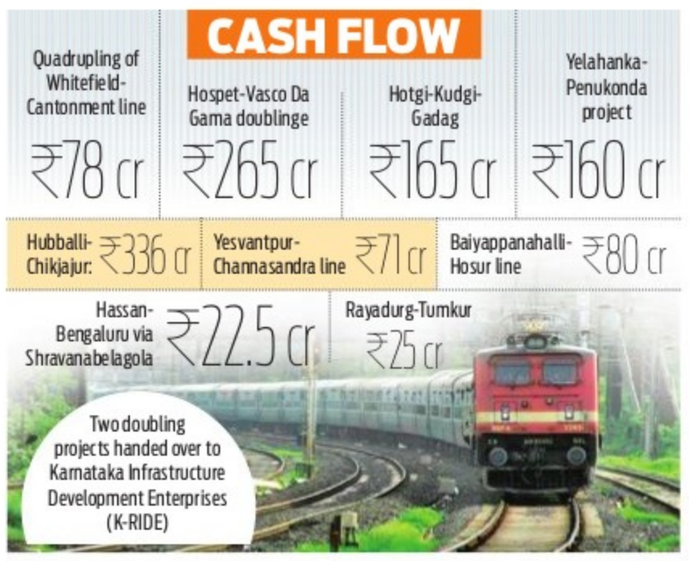
A sum of Rs 300 crore was requested for the first year of the Rs 15,787-crore suburban project. However, railway officials hastened to add that it might have been earmarked under some other category, as it is too important a project to be ignored.

"Allocation for such projects usually comes under a specific section called MTP (Metropolitan Transport Projects) but that category is missing this time. It may have been clubbed under 'Works' or some other category," said a senior railway official. "The picture might be clear after we cross-check with the Railway Board."

Two top railway officials, too, confirmed that the project did not find place in the budget. Doubling projects have been given a budget outlay of Rs 1314 crore, of which Rs 881 crore would be funded by external borrowings and institutional funding (primarily LIC), said a senior official.

K C Swami, Chief Administrative Officer, Constructions, South Western Railway, billed it "a satisfactory project with funding being earmarked across projects. Funds for the Baiyappanahalli Coaching Terminal may not be adequate and we will seek a revised estimate".

Sanjeev Dyammanavar, urban transportation expert, said, "The focus is on doubling and completion of new lines, apart from track renewal which was a positive development. The setting up of a Railway Centre for Sporting Excellence is a big plus."



'Need to protect swamp biodiversity'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Biodiversity Board (KBB) on Tuesday submitted a proposal to Forest Minister Aravind Limbavali to protect and declare Hoskote Lake as a bird sanctuary. It also proposed that Kondaji lake in Davanagere be declared a bird sanctuary and the 500 hectares of the natural sandalwood reserve, be protected as a wildlife area.

As part of World Wetlands Day, KBB chairman Ananthhegde Ashisara submitted a proposal to Limbavali to protect water bodies and the biodiversity around them, and allocate funds in the upcoming state budget for their protection.

In the recommendations, a copy of which is with TNIE, Ashisara said the biodiversity around Mystrica swamps and sacred groves was unique. It spreads across Dakshina Kannada, Chikkamagaluru, Shivamogga, Kudremukh foothills, Sharavathi valley and Aghanashini.

Ashisara said that there were 200 such swamps, which have been documented. "The government should immediately formulate a new project to save them and create a buffer zone. At least 20 swamps are present in Agumbe, including in Katlekanu," he said.

The board also sought the creation of a project to protect estuaries and mangroves. The report stated there were many in Aghanashini, Kundapur and the river beds of the Souparnika, of which at least 10 should be included in the project.

Ashisara said that many sacred grooves in Malnad, Dakshina Kannada, Udupi and Shivamogga were under threat and they needed to be protected. Limbavali said that the matter would be given to officials preparing the budget plan for assessment and inclusion.

Pralhad Joshi, Ashwath to oversee Kerala elections

ENS @Bengaluru

BJP national president JP Nadda on Tuesday appointed incharges for the upcoming Assembly elections in three States and one Union territory. Union Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi has been appointed as election incharge for Kerala and Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan has been appointed as co-incharge for Kerala. The appointments come in addition to the organisational level appointments of general secretaries and secretaries made last year for specific states. Rajya Sabha MP from Karnataka Rajeev Chandrashekhar has also been appointed as co incharge for Puducherry elections.

Four Union Ministers, including Joshi, have been appointed as incharges for each of the poll-bound regions. Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar will be in charge of Assam elections while MoS Dr Jitendra Singh will act as co-incharge. MoS Home Affairs Kishan Reddy has been appointed as in-charge for the Tamil Nadu elections — a state where C T Ravi from Karnataka has already been appointed as incharge general secretary from the organisation.

M'luru airport privatisation: HC issues notice to Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday issued notice to the Centre on a PIL that questioned the privatisation of Mangaluru International Airport, and sought the quashing of the Cabinet decision in 2019 approving the bid of Adani Enterprises Limited for three airports including Mangaluru.

Hearing the petition filed by Airports Authority Employees Union, Bajpe, Mangaluru, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum issued a notice to the Centre.

IN THE HC

On November 8, 2018, the Union Cabinet gave in principle approval for leading out six airports namely Ahmedabad, Jaipur, Lucknow, Guwahati, Thiruvananthapuram, and Mangaluru under public private partnership. The petitioners requested the court to declare the bidding process for the privatisation on the basis of that Cabinet decision as illegal, arbitrary and beyond the scope of the Airports Authority Act.

The petitioners also sought the quashing of the Cabinet decision dated July 3, 2019, approving Adani Enterprises' bid for three airports including Mangaluru, contending that the Centre had no authority to enter into such an agreement as it is beyond the powers conferred under Section 12 and 12-A of the Airports Authority Act and a violation of the Aircrafts Rules.

They also sought the quashing of the consequential concession agreement entered into by AAI and Adani Enterprises in February 2020, alleging that it was prepared without conducting a proper feasibility study and without considering the legality of the proposal, the petitioners said, and alleged that Adani Enterprises was the highest bidder for all six airports of the 11 who participated in the process.

There is between 295% to 638% deviation between the highest and lowest bidder, meaning that the bid document circulated by the AAI lacked clarity and that bidders were not able to analyse and evaluate the project, the petitioners alleged.

MYANMAR'S TRYST WITH DEMOCRACY REMAINS A BLIP

When people use the term post-colonial to refer to a specific form of national political psychology, one still impelled by the destabilising effect of events of nearly a century ago (while being liberated from it formally), Myanmar would be a useful case-study. In the second year of the third decade of a new century, the deeply Buddhist core of the country has proved its internal demons are not yet quelled.

Its tryst with democracy—even a controlled one—remained a blip. After nearly half-a-century of iron-grip rule, just as it was inking a deal with popular politics after negotiating a careful compromise, the junta is back: declaring a 'state of emergency' from Naypyidaw, locking up Daw Aung San Suu Kyi and members of her National League of Democracy, which had just won a landslide victory. So instead of facing parliament as newly elected members, ready to script Myanmar's future, they found themselves being whisked away to undisclosed 'guesthouses' in the wee hours of February 1. That done, General Min Aung Hlaing, who possesses a rather benign demeanour, made a benign-sounding announcement. This coup would last only a year, he said. Till such time as 'the large-scale voter fraud' that apparently gave a majority to Suu Kyi's party is corrected.

Remember those sentiments? Heard recently from another democracy that proved to have some more institutional resilience? Suu Kyi, despite meekly toeing the majoritarian military line while she was in power since 2016 (rather than acting like a visionary Nobelist)—in Myanmar's first experiment with partial democracy—could clearly not win their trust. The military, which has 25% parliamentary seats reserved for its party, USDP, was obviously miffed it lost big to Suu Kyi's NLD. Neither world opinion nor popular opinion could hold their hand. And so, geopolitics springs new great games upon the world. China, the US, and yes, New Delhi … all are spectators for now.

CONG'S LOSS IS THE BJP'S GAIN IN PONDY

A few months before elections in Puducherry, the BJP is gearing up to break into the Union Territory, with the high-profile entry of former PWD minister and Congress heavyweight A Namassivayam, and another party bigwig and former Ossudu constituency MLA, E Theeppainthan.

Namassivayam's decision triggered a spate of 16 resignations of key party office-bearers. All these senior leaders are expected to join the BJP in the coming days. These developments are expected to bolster the saffron party's bargaining power in the UT. However, the thorn in this may be the N Rangasamy-led All India NR Congress, a party that broke away from the Congress in 2011. The AINRC is the strongest entity in the NDA with seven MLAs, as compared to the four of the AIADMK and three of the BJP. But Namassivayam's clout among the Vanniyar community, who constitute over 30% of the population, could be advantageous for the BJP in the April-May elections. The 52-year-old Namassivayam began his political career with the DMK. Ever since he made his way to the Congress in 2002, he has been winning all elections in 2006, 2011 and 2016. But his relations with CM V Narayanasamy soured after he was not given the top post despite being promised it. What was more, Narayanaswamy, who had not even stood for elections, became the CM. Having been nursing this grudge, Namassivayam had started becoming vocal in his criticism during the recent months, consistently blaming the CM and the party leadership for failing to respond to his grievances concerning issues relating to the people and their welfare. "The chief minister is only involved in confrontation with the Centre and Lt Governor, resulting in non-fulfilment of the election manifesto," he had said.

Though the strength of the Congress in the 33-member Assembly has come down to 12, there is no immediate threat to the government as it is supported by three DMK members and an independent, making it a combined strength of 16. But the Congress' loss seems to be the BJP's gain. BJP president J P Nadda even addressed a packed rally in the UT on Sunday. With a local leader of Namassivayam's stature being part of the BJP, its prospects have certainly brightened in Puducherry.

The most important difference between farm protests in 1988 and now is that India has changed. The aggregated term 'farmers' therefore must not be used uncritically

ON THE WRONG SIDE OF NATIONAL INTEREST

MAKARAND R PARANJAPE

RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE

AMIT BANDRE

Circa October 1988, Boat Club Rally, New Delhi.

I was still a relatively young man then, a couple of years after I returned to India after my PhD in the US. I realised that most of what I knew about my own country was bookish knowledge, theoretical rather than practical. Of the real forces that moved India, I knew precious little. But I was not alone. Among the thousands of the more privileged Indians who were equally, if not more ignorant, was our own Prime Minister, Rajiv Gandhi. And his coterie of friends, admirers, and advisors who ruled India.

Like them, I was utterly taken aback to see large swarms of what our elites would call the "unwashed masses" that autumn in the national capital. For six weeks, they thronged about Rajpath, planting themselves on the India Gate lawns, washing in the canals, fountains and at handpumps in the very heart of Lutyens Delhi. The man behind the movement was someone I had never even heard of—Mahendra Singh Tikait.

Inheriting the uneasy legacy of Chaudhary Charan Singh, who had started the Bharatiya Kisan Union (BKU), Tikait had rallied the farmers, mostly of western Uttar Pradesh and Haryana, against Rajiv Gandhi's farm policies. Eventually, some five lakh farmers camped in the capital for months. Major opposition leaders, including Atal Bihari Vajpayee, addressed them in massive rallies. Soon, they brought the Rajiv government to its knees, forcing it to accede to Tikait's 35 point charter of demands. These included higher support prices for sugarcane and waiving electricity charges.

It is another matter that Tikait didn't quite rise to those heights again despite leading two more agitations in 1990 and 1992, confined mostly to UP. Again, the modus operandi was the same. He laid siege to the state capital, Lucknow, forcing the governments of the day, led respectively by Mulayam Singh Yadav (Janata Party) and Kalyan Singh (BJP), to succumb to his demands. In 2008, Tikait was arrested by the then CM Mayawati for a casteist slur against her. A posse of 8,000 policemen descended upon his village to book him. He was released after tendering an apology.

Is February 2021 a Tikait redux moment? The BKU with its splinters and offshoots is still very much an outfit run by the Tikait family. It is once again at the helm of the farmers' protest against a new set of reforms brought in, this time by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's second NDA government. But things are different now. Neither Rakesh nor Naresh Tikait, even combined, add up to the magnetic might of their uncompromising, stern and charismatic father, Mahendra Singh. The latter was cast in the mould of a traditional kisan neta, a son of the soil, whose sincerity to the cause could not be doubted.

Today, however, the next generation is seen to be compromised and allied to the opposition parties. In fact the same party, the Congress, against whom the father fought and won, now supports the Tikaits. Not only are the sons not equal to the father but, also, more importantly, Modi is much more than equal to Rajiv. A visionary leader with a political and strategic savvy that has so far outclassed all opponents, Modi is not likely to buckle under pressure.

> There are farmers and farmers.... We may exalt all of them as annadaatas, with slogans such as Jai Jawan Jai Kisan, or romanticise them in Bollywood pastorals. But the fact is many of them represent backward-looking and selfish interests, and are opposed to change and progress. Somewhat like other traditional vested interests such as caste caucuses, and religious, linguistic or other identitarian mobilisations

He is backed by a strong team, has an absolute majority in Parliament and what is more significant, knows that the next general elections are three years away. Modi realises that farm reforms would prove to be a major challenge in India. He therefore timed them in such a way that their political fallout would be limited only to certain states in northern India.

But the most important difference between farm protests then and now is that not only has the world changed drastically, but so has India. The aggregated term "farmers" therefore must not be used too glibly or uncritically. There are farmers and farmers. The ones agitating are not only aligned to the opposition and, as has been pointed out quite often, with anti-India forces, but also share a basic characteristic that Karl Marx pointed out long ago.

Medium-sized and well-off Russian farmers, who owned at least eight acres of land, were pejoratively termed kulaks (one meaning of the word is tight-fisted) in orthodox Marxist terminology. They represented deeply conservative—even atavistic—elements of society deeply opposed to the revolution. We may exalt our own farmers as annadaatas, with slogans such as Jai Jawan Jai Kisan, or romanticise them in Bollywood pastorals. But the fact is many of them represent backward-looking, anti-progressive and selfish interests. They are opposed to change and progress. Somewhat like other traditional vested interests such as trade unions, caste caucuses, and religious, linguistic or other identitarian mobilisations.

Some of these farmer groups, too, can be law-breaking bullies opposed to the national interests, as we have recently seen. With proper media and narrative management, the unsavoury aspects of the farmers' agitation will be brought home to the Indian public. The tide of sympathy will thus turn against them. They may find themselves isolated, swimming against the national current, losing popularity because of the huge losses to the exchequer that their agitation has caused.

The options with the government are many. If push comes to shove, as a last resort, the government may even make the agri laws optional, leaving it to the individual states to decide on the timetable of their implementation. This will be a masterstroke, deflecting the anger from the Central government to the states. In a few years, the results will be there for all to see.

Those states that have adopted the farm laws are likely to do better than those that have not. When the emotional rhetoric subsides and real gains on the ground can be gauged, those left behind may also fall in line.

SELLING FAMILY SILVER NOT SUSTAINABLE WAY TO FUND BUDGET

BISWAJIT DHAR
Professor, Centre for Economic Studies & Planning, School of Social Sciences, JNU

The 2021-22 Union Budget, the third presented by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, had to be an unprecedented exercise as the Indian economy has been beset with a downturn that predates the Covid pandemic by more than two years. For nine straight quarters until the end of the previous financial year, India's GDP had declined. At the heart of this slowdown was an acute demand crunch, caused by the growing levels of unemployment and steeply declining levels of labour force participation. It was eminently clear to any student of economics that for the economy to revive, the government needs to turn its attention towards creating additional consumption demand through improvement in the condition of the wage earners.

The government needed to respond to this situation immediately, which it did, according to the Budget presented by the finance minister. There was a steep increase in the spending on the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Programme (MGNREGA) during the 2020-21 fiscal: Against the budgeted ₹61,500 crore for the year, the revised estimate of spending was ₹1,11,500 crore, an increase of about 72%. However, for the fiscal year 2021-22, the expenditure of MGNREGA has been reduced to ₹73,000 crore, or a decline of more than a third from the revised estimate. These numbers clearly reflect the viewpoint of the government that it does not consider the problems facing the country to be of a structural nature that require sustained support to the migrant workers, who have been severely affected by the crisis. By doing so, the government has also signalled that it does not think a revival of domestic demand is part of the solution to the ongoing woes of the economy.

India's economic revival critically hinges on adequate availability of vaccines, which the government seems to have ensured by rolling out the largest vaccine programme. However, at the same time, it is vitally important to ensure that not only is this programme able to reach everyone in the shortest possible period, but the vaccines are also made affordable. The prerequisite for doing so is an effective public health system, but over the decades, our health infrastructure has faced systematic neglect. In response to the Covid pandemic, most countries have been focusing on beefing up the health infrastructure, especially through government spending, and therefore there was considerable interest in the moves that the Government of India would make. However, the numbers available from the new Budget present a dismal picture. The total spending on health, which is expected to be around ₹80,000 crore in 2020-21, is projected to decline to just above ₹71,000 crore in 2021-22. This raises questions over the ability of the government to deliver on the promises to make Covid vaccines available for all.

> The IMF has been emphasising on the use of fiscal policies and also reminding governments about the increasing role that PSEs have been playing in advanced countries, especially in the aftermath of the global financial crisis of 2008. Contrary to this advice, the Government of India has been increasing the pace of privatisation of PSEs

The Budget for 2021-22 was important, above all, for testing the government commitment to fiscal policies going forward, since, according to the International Monetary Fund (IMF), fiscal measures used by India were among the lowest among G20 countries. The IMF has been emphasising on the use of fiscal policies and also reminding governments about the increasing role that public sector enterprises (PSEs) have been playing in advanced countries, especially in the aftermath of the global financial crisis of 2008. Contrary to this advice, the Government of India has been increasing the pace of privatisation of PSEs and this Budget is no exception, with the finance minister making the big announcement of divestment of government shareholding in the Life Insurance Corporation. The question that arises here is whether the government has explored all the avenues of garnering resources for financing the Budget. The question is in the negative, given the spate of tax concessions that have been handed out to the corporates, especially when there is evidence that the past concessions have not helped in reviving the economy. A second and more important aspect that the government needed to take cognisance of is that selling public assets, which are like family silver, is not a sustainable way of funding the Budget.

Towards recovery after Covid

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has done a commendable job in putting the economy back on track despite many limitations. Covid has devastated the economies of all countries and the Budget is part of the process towards recovery. Some concessions to the middle class, ignored by successive regimes, would have boosted their confidence in the government.

EPF move a shock

It's shocking that interest on employees' contribution to the provident fund beyond ₹2.5 lakh a year will no longer be tax free. It is surprising that the government does not want the salaried class to save a little more.

Dreams and nightmares

This Budget is not the usual one we are familiar with: robbing Peter to pay Paul. Even though it has not made our dreams come true, it has not brought us nightmares too. But there has been some jugglery. Yes, there are some promising allocations, but those may not be fulfilled. The Budget, however, is a good one for the election-bound states.

Boost to infra in TN

This is with reference to Two economic corridors to come up in TN at ₹1 L crore and ₹63K crore for Metro Phase 2 (Feb 2). This is welcome news. Though critics may say that the schemes have been announced with an eye on the upcoming Assembly elections in Tamil Nadu, the Budget allocation to the state will go a long way in the development of infrastructure facilities here.

No fuel price relief

There has been no relief when it comes to fuel prices. The reduction in excise duty on petrol and diesel has been offset by the agriculture cess. We are waiting for a Budget similar to the 1991 one.

Disappointment for aviation

This is with reference to We suffered a lot, deserved much more in Budget (Feb 2). The Budget has been a great disappointment to the aviation industry, which faced huge losses on account of the pandemic. The sector seems to have been left high and dry with its demands such as bringing aviation fuel under GST and a cut in excise duty not considered by the Union finance minister. The tax exemption for aircraft lease rentals is not of much significance.

The Budget has nothing much to offer for the middle income group. Now essentials for the middle class such as refrigerators and mobiles would cost more.

Myanmar coup worrying

The army taking over the administration by declaring an emergency and detaining democratically elected leaders in Myanmar is a matter of grave concern. The nation has been facing the wrath of the comity of nations over the Rohingya problem. Barricades placed by Delhi Police at Ghazipur border to restrict protesters' movement | PARVEEN NEGI

Barricades, internet suspension can't dampen spirits, say farmers

More tractors expected at Singhu border ahead of Saturday's 'chakka jam' programme

RITWIKA MITRA @ New Delhi

AS internet services remained suspended and layers were added to the concrete barricades to restrict movements at the Singhu border in Delhi, the protesting farmers said the government can't dampen their spirits and the agitation, which is gathering "momentum".

The police have erected concrete barricades, spread concertina wire and hammered long metal spikes at Singhu and other key protests sites at the borders.

Volunteers at the spot kept reminding the protesters to not go near the barricades and maintain "discipline". With iron rods between barriers and cement poured between barriers, the movement became restricted among protesters. Even media persons are not allowed to enter the area and have to access the protest site through alternate routes.

"What happened at Lal Quila was a conspiracy. But it is important that people maintain discipline or the behaviour of a few people reflects poorly on the peaceful movement," said Jagdeep Singh, a volunteer.

"The government has suspended internet here to curtail our rights. In the absence of the internet, some media organisations continue to peddle lies that the support for the movement is ebbing. On the contrary, the protest has gathered more momentum post-January 26 incident," said Harpal Singh.

He added that more tractors have been coming in since Monday night ahead of Saturday's 'chakka jam'. Asked if the roadblocks would be a success amid the internet being suspended, and communication channels affected at the protest epicentres, Sudhakar Singh, a farmer, said: "The roadblock will be successful. The government's putting iron rods and cemented barricades, and suspending internet will in no way dampen our movement."

For 65-year-old Birmati, it is important that women came out in large numbers to participate in the protest. "We are farmers, too. We finish our chores at home and come to the site to protest. We will not bow down till the government restores our rights," she said.

Patience has been the key in sustaining the movement, said elderly protester Kashmir Singh. .

All-party Punjab team to meet PM over farm laws

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

OF the persons from Punjab reported missing since the Republic Day violence in Delhi, 70 are in jails, while 14 of the remaining 19 missing have been located, said Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh in an all-party meeting on Tuesday.

It was decided that an all-party delegation would meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi and raise the issue, along with other concerns. The meeting called for a judicial probe into laxity of those responsible for law and order at Red Fort.

Amarinder told the meeting that five persons from Punjab are still missing. Efforts were being made to trace them, he added.

A 70-member team of lawyers has already been formed to provide the farmers legal assistance free of cost. The lawyers are reaching out to those facing cases filed against them by Delhi Police.

The meeting boycotted by the BJP was attended by the Congress, AAP, SAD, Lok Insaaf Party, SAD Democratic Party, BSP, CPI and CPI(M) and AAP, which, walked out towards the end over their demand of sending out Punjab Police to Delhi borders to provide security to the farmers.

Amarinder added his government will bring state amendment bills to negate the farm laws proposed by the Centre in the state Assembly again since the governor had not sent the earlier bills to the President.

"The Constitution provides that if bills are passed twice by the Assembly, they have to be sent by the governor to the President. The governor should not have sat over the bills. The state was empowered to amend the laws under Article 254 (ii) of the Constitution," he said.

Don't extort tractor owners: HC to UP

The Allahabad HC on Tuesday asked the UP government to stop district administrations from seeking personal bonds with exorbitant sums from tractor-owning farmers to prevent them from participating in the protest. Cong to give legal aid to those detained

With several farmers arrested by the Delhi Police following violence on Republic Day, the Congress has formed teams to assist them for any legal help. The legal department passed a resolution saying, "Delegations of legal department from Punjab, Haryana and Delhi will be visiting farmer leaders at protest-sites at borders of Delhi to apprise them of legal services already taken to help farmers and journalists regarding relief and redressal."

Lok Sabha sees multiple disruptions, Opposition walks out of Rajya Sabha

NEW DELHI: The issue of farmers' stir against the three agri laws rocked both the Houses of Parliament on Tuesday, resulting in repeated disruptions and forcing the Speakers to adjourn the Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha for the day.

Leaders of the Congress, DMK, TMC and other Opposition parties rushed to the well of the Lok Sabha soon after Speaker Om Birla took his seat in the afternoon. The Congress MPs, led by Gurjeet Singh Aujla, Hibi Eden, Benny Behnan and Jothimani, started raising the slogans: "repeal anti-farmer laws". They were joined by Saugata Roy and Kalyan Banerjee. After a break of one hour, when the Lok Sabha resumed, the Opposition leaders again came into the well and started sloganeering against the farm laws. But, the House was adjourned till 7 pm. It was again resumed at 7 pm, but the proceedings could not take place due to continuous interruptions. The House was adjourned till the next day.

Similar scenes were seen in the Rajya Sabha as the Congress, Left, TMC, BSP, RJD and DMK staged a walkout from the Rajya Sabha after their demand for suspension of business of the day to take up a discussion on the new agri laws was rejected by Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu. Leaders of the Opposition gave notices to discuss the plight of farmers sitting at Delhi borders for the last two months.

The Chairman, however, did not allow notices for suspending business in the House, saying the motion of thanks to the President's address will be taken up on Wednesday and members can speak during that time. The Opposition then resorted to sloganeering and staged a walkout at the start of the question hour, leading to adjournment of the Upper House. The House saw four adjournments in all before the proceedings were suspended for the day. ENS

INS condemns FIRs against editors by police of three states

NEW DELHI: The Indian Newspaper Society (INS) has condemned the action taken by the Delhi, Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh Police in filing FIRs against senior editors and journalists over the coverage of the farmers' protest.

The society appealed to the UP and MP governments to revisit their decisions so that the rights of the press are not curtailed, and the media can continue to perform its work fearlessly.

Before freelance journalist Mandeep Punia's was granted bail, the Editors Guild of India had issued a similar statement demanding his release and a restoration of circumstances for the media to be able to report smoothly.

"Punia's arrest is an attempt to muzzle young courageous voices of independent journalists that through reporting are busting fake news and speaking truth to power," the statement said.

FIRs were lodged against several senior journalists for their reporting on Republic Day. Journalists bodies have expressed concern on the police's high-handedness on dealing with this.

On Monday, Twitter blocked at least 250 accounts, including that of The Caravan magazine, after an order from the Centre. The Commonwealth Human Rights Initiative (CHRI) condemned sedition and criminal defamation cases against journalists in a statement on Tuesday.

"India should commit to revisiting, reviewing and repealing these archaic laws, rooted in a colonial past. The government must ensure protection under law for journalists who face harassment and threats," a statement by CHRI said. ENS

POLL BUGLE

WINDS OF CHANGE BLOWING IN BENGAL

"BENGAL is different as here people take time to change the incumbent. But when desired, they make up their mind beforehand and choose to remain silent until the day of voting. This happened in 1977 and 2011. This will happen in 2021 again," opined an elderly OBC person at Lalgarh in the Jhargram assembly constituency.

The statement was not in isolation but it signified an articulated summing up of the dominant mood for change that is prevalent on the ground, a fact that resonated in my field study in all the 294 assembly constituencies of West Bengal.

At present, barring the Muslim respondents, the mood for change could be positively tested on the ground if one could go for a random but demographically representative response from the voters across the state, from Dalits like Rajbanshis, Namoshudras and Chain Mandals, tribes like tea-tribes and a section of Gorkhas, general Hindu Bengalis and Hindi speakers in North-Bengal, a sub-region lying between Bihar and Jharkhand on the western side and Nepal, Bhutan, Assam and Bangladesh on the northern and eastern sides respectively.

The contradiction between NRC and CAA is immaterial to them as both are meant to stop the illegal infiltration of Muslims from Bangladesh, opined a Rajbanshi Dalit in Toofangunj constituency. Where would the Hindus from Bangladesh go if not to India, he countered upon being pointed out that the majority of illegal immigrants happen to be Hindus, particularly the Namoshudra Dalits?

This sentiment is shared further on the western side of the state sharing the borders of Jharkhand and Odisha, the sub-regions referred to as Paschimanchal and Junglemahal respectively, from Birbhum to Paschim-Bardhman and Purulia, Bankura, Jhargram to West Medinipur, inhabited primarily by Bauri and Bagdi Dalit castes, Santhal and Munda tribes, OBCs like Kurmi-Mahatos, besides the general Hindu castes like Brahmins, Kayasthas and peasant castes like Mahishyas and Aguris. The sentiment for change is prevalent.

Similarly, the pro-change sentiment is also shared both in degree and kind in central Bengal, composed of districts like Purba Bardhman, Nadia and Hooghly wherein we found the same demography, albeit with fewer STs and more concentration of Bagdi Dalits and castes like Aguris, Mahishyas, Gwala Ghosh, Brahmins and Kayasthas.

Lastly in southern Bengal, we found dense pockets of Namoshudra Dalits in North-24 Parganas, Poundra-Kshatriya Dalits in South-24 Parganas, Bagdi Dalits in Howrah and East-Medinipur besides Mahishyas and Gwala Ghosh communities along with the presence of migrant communities and general castes with the core of Bhadraloks residing in and around Kolkata.

Here, barring a minuscule section of Bhadraloks, that too mainly in South-Kolkata, one finds the votaries of pro-change superseding the status quoits. But, this seamless demographic flow is interspersed with Muslim minorities who are veering towards the Trinamool Congress in a big way. Nevertheless, their impact gets limited in the face of a thick consolidation of Hindu votes in favour of the BJP.

SAJJAN KUMAR
Political analyst associated with Peoples Pulse

Hence, contrary to the common-sensical assumption that the TMC may be weakened and the saffron wave is strengthening on account of the defection of strong leaders like Suvendu Adhikari and others to the BJP, it is the prevalent pro-change sentiment on the ground which is encouraging these leaders to defect with the intention to ride on the strong tailwind of pro-change sentiment. Attributing an expected BJP victory in Bengal to individual leaders would be a classic case of analytical fallacy wherein effect is confused as the cause.

Naturally, there are strong sceptics, including seasoned analysts. But, in the age of social media and with the rise of a new wave of politics, their scepticism is based more on the old set of assumptions wherein they are strong on logics but thin on empirics.

Firstly, the oft-referred cliché of assembly election being different from the Lok Sabha election doesn't hold ground in Bengal as the electoral determinants of a strong anti-incumbency against the Trinamool on account of rampant corruption and political violence, which prevailed in 2019, is still the prime factor on the ground. In fact, people have got further emboldened in the face of the organizational chaos gripping the Trinamool.

Secondly, while it is rightly pointed out that in West Bengal the BJP is organizationally weak and lacks local faces on the ground in addition to not having a state leader of Mamata Banerjee's stature, it would be wrong to infer that these weaknesses would prevent the BJP from capturing power in the ensuing election.

People are not casting a positive vote for the BJP, rather they will vote to defeat the Trinamool wherein the BJP is the preferred option, mainly on account of it being in power at the Centre and having leaders like Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Amit Shah, who are perceived to be serious about their intent to win Bengal by all means.

This faith in the capability and intent of the BJP leaders rather than the party's organizational strength was visible when a majority of pro-change respondents said they would vote for the party rather than the candidate.

This leader centric approach was further revealed when in October a significant section of pro-change respondents stated that in Bengal, the BJP needs Shah more than party president J P Nadda. Till then Shah, after skipping the Bihar election completely, had not started his Bengal visits, leading to doubts about his presence in the state. Now, with prevailing ground sentiment and BJP sending the right signals, thereby striking a chord with a majority of the electorates, the momentum for change is too strong to be dipped. Winds of change are blowing in Bengal.

Yet to decide on rollout of NRC nationwide: Govt

New Delhi: The Centre is yet to decide on the rollout of the National Register of Citizens (NRC) for the whole country, the Ministry of Home Affairs has told a Parliamentary panel, according to a report tabled in Parliament on Tuesday. "It has been clarified at various levels in government time and again that till now no decision has been taken to create National Register of Indian citizen," the ministry told the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Home Affairs.

No law on cards to curb inter-faith marriages, Centre informs House

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE central government does not intend bringing in any anti-conversion law for curbing inter-faith marriages, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs said in the Lok Sabha on Tuesday.

When asked if the government believes that inter-faith marriages are happening due to forceful conversions, Union Minister of State for Home Affairs Kishan Reddy said forceful conversions are primarily a concern of the various state governments and Union Territories.

"Public order and 'Police' are state subjects as per the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India. Hence prevention, detection, registration, investigation and prosecution of offences related to conversions are primarily the concerns of the state governments/Union Territory administrations. Action is taken as per existing laws by the law enforcing agencies whenever instances of violation come to notice," Reddy said in a written reply.

Kishan Reddy
Union Minister

The question comes in the backdrop of the controversial anti-conversion laws introduced by the governments of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh. Since the law was passed, there have been controversial arrests, mostly of Muslim men, who have been accused of trying to forcibly convert Hindu women for marriage.

The governments of Assam and Karnataka have also announced that they would soon bring in a similar law to curb inter-faith marriages. Notably, all the above-mentioned states are ruled by BJP.

Last month, Allahabad High Court's Lucknow bench had ruled that it should be optional rather than mandatory for an inter-faith couple to give a prior notice of 30 days to a marriage officer to register their wedding under the Special Marriage Act of 1954.

3 health workers suspended after Maha polio fiasco

Will probe the incident, says health minister; officials say condition of 12 children is stable

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Health minister Rajesh Tope said on Tuesday three health workers have been suspended and a detailed probe would be ordered into how a hand sanitizer, instead of polio drops, was given to 12 children in Yavatmal district of the state.

The incident took place at Bhanbora Primary Health Centre in Kapsikopri village on Sunday when the National Pulse Polio vaccination drive for children aged 1-5 years was underway.

According to officials, some of the children in a village were given oral drops of sanitizer instead of the polio drops after which many complained of nausea, cramps and started vomiting, creating panic among the parents and health officials.

All the children were rushed to the Vasantrao Naik Government Medical College & Hospital for treatment. "All the children are now stable and improving. They are being kept under observation. Depending on their condition, we shall consider discharging them," the VNGMCH Dean Dr Milind Kamble told a news agency.

TNIE on February 1 reported that the 12 kids at Kapsikopri village in Yavatmal district were administered a hand sanitizer instead of polio vaccine last Monday.

Tope said he has sought a detailed report of the incident from the CEO of Yavatmal Zilla Parishad. "On a preliminary report, three health workers have been suspended. After a detailed probe, they could be permanently terminated from the service. We cannot afford lapses in the national polio program," Tope said.

Shrikrishna Panchal, CEO of Yavatmal Zilla Parishad, said the incident was confined to a village. "There are no such reports from anywhere else. We had trained the health workers for a fortnight," Panchal said.

As per initial reports, at least one doctor, a health worker and an Asha volunteer are under the scanner. Panchal said the authorities were informed of the incident very late. After the incident, parents in the area are under fear and have demanded action against those responsible.

The incident came a day after the Polio National Immunization Day was launched on Jan 31 at Rashtrapati Bhavan.

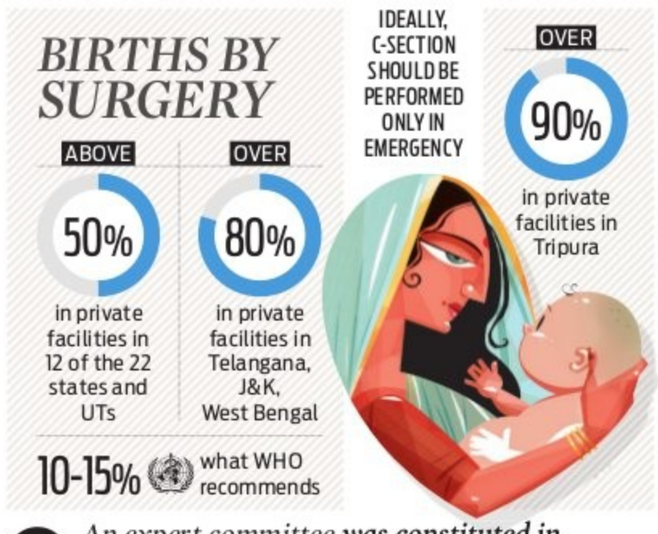
PANEL TO STUDY 'ALARMING' RISE IN C-SECTIONS



An expert committee was constituted in December to examine the state-wise findings related to C-sections – Union Health Ministry

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

ALARMED at the excessive rise of Caesarean sections in private hospitals in many states, the Centre has constituted an expert group to examine the state-wise findings related to the surgical procedures, it informed the Parliament on Tuesday.

"An expert committee was constituted in December to examine the state-wise findings related to C-sections," said the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare in response to an unstarred question by MP KC Ramamurthy. The ministry also informed the House that a technical resource group was set up in May last year to deliberate on various aspects of optimising C-section rates.

Previous surveys had shown that the percentage of births by C-sections in private health facilities was 27.7 in NFHS 3 and 40.9 in NFHS-4. As per the findings of the NFHS 5, the least share of births by C-section in private health facilities was recorded in Nagaland, about 23 per cent, which implies that C-sections were being overused by private health facilities across other states.

Ideally, C-sections should be performed only if there are complications from pregnancy which puts the health of the mother or child at risk. There are concerns that many doctors push for it either due to monetary benefits or for the sake of their own convenience.

The survey noted that public health facilities recorded a relatively smaller percentage of births by C-section. The highest share of C-sections in public health facilities was recorded in Telangana at 44.5 per cent. The lowest of 3.9 per cent was in Bihar. However, public facilities too seemed to be overusing C-sections in 16 states and UTs and were below 10 per cent in only four states — Mizoram, Meghalaya, Nagaland and Bihar — where the share of institutional births was also on the lower side. The three north-eastern states had also witnessed a drop in C-section births compared to NFHS 4.

Ladakh, Sikkim, and Goa reported an increase of more than 10 per cent in C-section births at public health facilities compared to NFHS 4.

Discrepancies found in MP food scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

FOUR months after the supply of substandard rice under the Targeted Public Distribution System (TPDS) in Balaghat and Mandla district jolted Madhya Pradesh, fresh discrepancies were detected under the Take Home Ration (THR) scheme for out of school adolescent girls in the state.

The National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) has written to the Director General of the Economic Offence Wing of MP to register a case following the detection of over ₹4.26 crore worth financial irregularities/ discrepancies in THR for such girls in four districts of the state.

A letter signed by NCPCR Registrar Anu Chaudhary, summarising findings of enquiry by the Office of Indian Audit & Accounts Department, Office of the Accountant General, Madhya Pradesh about the four districts — Betul, Dindori, Gwalior and Singrauli — was sent to the DG EOW on Monday. The NCPCR has requested the EOW to register a case followed by appropriate action and submit an action taken report to the commission within 10 days.

In 2018-19, the NCPCR chairperson conducted inspection of MP Agrotonic and MP Agro Industries Corporation Ltd to assess the quality of food items served in Anganwadi centers in different districts of MP, including Vidisha.

During the visit, it was found that a large number of adolescent girls in the age group of 11-14 years were out of school (OoS). The Commission subsequently sought information on OoS adolescent girls from the state's department of women and child development (WCD). The response from the WCD department showed that there were 2,17,211 OoS adolescent girls (11-14 years), out of which 1,71,365 girls were getting services from Anganwadi as in February 2019.

The commission further took up the matter with the state's department of school education, which informed the NCPCR about having identified 23,491 OoS children in the age group of 11-14 years in the state, out of which 8,680 were adolescent girls.

Confirming the development, the NPPCR chairperson Priyank Kanoongo told TNIE that the commission has received two action taken reports (ATR) on the four districts.

"As per the ATRs in the four districts, huge discrepancies to the tune of over ₹4.26 crore have been observed in expenses incurred on THR scheme for the OoS adolescent girls, after which we've written to the DG EOW to register a case," said the NCPCR chairperson.

When contacted by TNIE, the Director of WCD Department, Swati Meena Naik responded, "I've not seen the case, can respond only after seeing the documents."

Four injured as Congress, Akali Dal workers clash; Badal's car attacked

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FOUR people received gunshot wounds even as Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) president Sukhbir Singh Badal's bullet proof vehicle was attacked in Jalalabad allegedly by Congress workers on Tuesday.

Sources said Sukhbir was accompanying party candidates to file nomination for the local body elections slated for February 14, when a clash reportedly took place between the workers of Akali Dal and Congress. He (Sukhbir) was sitting on the front seat of his bulletproof SUV when a mob pelted stones, near the SDM office at Jalalabad. There was no other security vehicle or pilot vehicle in front of his SUV but only a few security personnel. Gunshots could be heard in a video, purportedly of the incident.

Youth Akali Dal president Parambans Singh Romana alleged that the attackers were led by the brother of a Congress MLA. Meanwhile, Congress MLA Raminder Amla alleged that Sukhbir brought musclemen with him who indulged in violence and opened fire.

Senior Superintendent of Police of Fazilka, Harjit Singh said four persons were injured but their identity and party affiliation were being ascertained. Meanwhile, both SAD and Congress claimed their workers have been injured.

The Punjab police have registered a case against more than 50 unidentified people in connection with the incident.

It seems there was a premeditated attempt on the SAD president's life and the Jalalabad police was complicit in this crime as it allowed the attackers a free run —Dr Daljit Singh Cheema, SAD

VHP lodges FIR over fraud temple donation collections

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

AMID the BJP-Congress war of words over former-Union minister Kantilal Bhuria's controversial statement that BJP leaders collect funds in Ram Temple's name and drink liquor, a case has been registered by Bhopal Police against a man for fraudulently collecting donations in the name of funding the Ram Temple at Ayodhya.

According to additional SP (ASP-Bhopal) Rajesh Bhadauriya, a case was registered at Ashoka Garden police station of MP capital under IPC Section 420 (cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property) against a local resident Manish Rajput for fraudulently collecting donations in the name of temple construction.

"The case was registered against Rajput on the complaint of Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) office bearer YS Jadaun. In the complaint, Jadaun has mentioned that the Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust has mandated the VHP only for collecting door-to-door donations for Ram Temple construction in Ayodhya. But a Bhopal resident man Manish Rajput is collecting donations from commoners in the name of Ram Temple construction by issuing receipts of Ram Bhoomi Sankalp Society," the ASP added.

Gauhati HC to decide if seven turncoat Nagaland legislators can attend session

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE Gauhati High Court on February 8 will decide whether seven MLAs of opposition Naga People's Front (NPF) in Nagaland can attend the forthcoming Assembly session.

They had in 2019 defected to the National Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP), which heads the state's ruling coalition, and were subsequently suspended by the NPF.

The Kohima bench of the Gauhati HC will hear an interlocutory application filed by the NPF seeking the court's interference in restraining the seven from attending the Assembly session beginning on February 12.

A disqualification petition, filed against them by the NPF, was dismissed by Speaker Sharingain Longkumer in July last year which prompted the NPF to move the court challenging the Speaker's decision.

The Speaker said there were no sufficient grounds to presume that the MLAs had voluntarily given up the membership of NPF. The NPF had filed the petition against the legislators in 2019 for willfully defying its decision on supporting the Congress nominee in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections to the state's lone seat. The NPF claimed the seven had willfully given up their party membership, thereby attracting provisions under the 10th Schedule (anti-defection law).

Strawberry farming in parched Bundelkhand

Growing strawberries in Bundelkhand — the preposition itself sounds outlandish. However, a silent revolution is happening in a farmland in the parched region, after a 23-year-old law student, Gurleen Chawla tried her hands on strawberry farming. What's more, Prime Minister Narendra Modi mentioned her feat during his weekly Mann Ki Baat radio programme on last Sunday. Recognising her contributions, the UP government had declared her as the brand ambassador of month-long strawberry festival in Jhansi. Known as 'Strawberry Girl' in the region, Gurleen literally changed the way Bundelkhand is often viewed when it comes to farming.

Top Putin critic Navalny sentenced to over 2.5 yrs in jail amid crackdown

MOSCOW

A Moscow court on Tuesday ordered Russian opposition leader Alexei Navalny (pic) to two years and eight months in prison on charges that he violated the terms of his probation while he was recuperating in Germany from nerve-agent poisoning.

Navalny, who is the most prominent critic of President Vladimir Putin, had earlier denounced the proceedings as a vain attempt by the Kremlin to scare millions of Russians into submission.

The prison sentence stems from a 2014 embezzlement conviction that he has rejected as fabricated.

The 44-year-old Navalny was arrested January 17 upon returning from his five-month convalescence in Germany from the attack, which he has blamed on the Kremlin. Russian authorities deny any involvement. Despite tests by several European labs, Russian authorities said they have no proof he was poisoned.

As the order was read, Navalny pointed to his wife Yulia in the courtroom and traced the outline of a heart on the glass cage where he was being held.

Earlier, Navalny attributed his arrest to Putin's "fear and hatred," saying the Russian leader will go down in history as a "poisoner."

"I have deeply offended him simply by surviving the assassination attempt that he ordered," he said.

"The aim of that hearing is to scare a great number of people," Navalny said.

"You can't jail the entire country," he said.

Russia's penitentiary service alleges that Navalny violated the probation conditions of his suspended sentence from a 2014 money laundering conviction that he has rejected as politically motivated. It asked the Simonovsky District Court to turn his 3 1/2-year suspended sentence into one that he must serve in prison, although he has spent some of that sentence under house arrest.

Navalny emphasized that the European Court of Human Rights has ruled that his 2014 conviction was unlawful and Russia paid him compensation in line with the ruling.

Hundreds under house arrest in Myanmar

Over 400 lawmakers spend anxious night at government housing complex as military tightened its grip on power

YANGON

HUNDREDS of members of Myanmar's Parliament were under house arrest on Tuesday, confined to their government housing complex and guarded by soldiers a day after the military seized power in a coup and detained senior politicians including the country's de facto leader Aung San Suu Kyi.

One of the detained lawmakers said he and about 400 others spent a sleepless night, worried they might be taken away, but were otherwise alright. They were able to speak with one another inside the compound and communicate to the outside by phone, but were not allowed to leave the housing complex in Naypyitaw, the capital. He said Suu Kyi was not being held with them.

"We had to stay awake and be alert," the lawmaker told The Associated Press on condition of anonymity out of concern for his safety. He said police were inside the complex, where members of Suu Kyi's party and various smaller parties were being held, and soldiers were outside it.

The coup came the morning lawmakers had gathered in the capital for the opening of a new parliamentary session. The military said the seizure was necessary in part because the government had not acted on the military's claims of fraud in November's elections and claimed the takeover was legal under the constitution.

But the move was widely condemned abroad.

The coup highlights the extent to which the generals have ultimately maintained control in Myanmar, despite more than a decade of talk about democratic reforms.

Western countries had greeted the move toward democracy enthusiastically, removing sanctions they had in place for years. The takeover now presents a test for the international community. US President Joe Biden called the military's actions "a direct assault on the country's transition to democracy and the rule of law" and threatened new sanctions.

The UN Security Council is expected to meet about the military's actions on Tuesday.

Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy party released a statement on Tuesday calling for the military to honour the results of the election and release all of those detained — as have the leaders of many other countries.

"The commander-in-chief seizing the power of the nation is against the constitution and it also neglects the sovereign power of people," the party said in a statement. AP

Lawmakers vote to limit access to contact-tracing data

Singapore's parliament passed a law Tuesday limiting the use of data collected for Covid contact-tracing after the government admitted it could be accessed by police. The city-state last year rolled out a programme called "TraceTogether" for tracking close contacts of Covid patients that works via both a phone app and dongle, but uptake was initially slow. It rose to more than 80 per cent of residents after government assurances the data would only be used to fight the virus and a decision to make it mandatory for accessing some public places. But there was an outcry last month when officials admitted police could access information gathered in the scheme as part of investigations. On Tuesday, lawmakers approved legislation limiting the cases in which police can get hold of the data.

Indonesia has detained a British woman named on a list of global terror suspects and plans to deport her for visa violations, authorities told said on Tuesday. Tazneen Miriam Sailar—a Manchester-born convert to Islam married to an Indonesian jihadist who was killed in Syria—is not charged with terror offences. Sailar, 47, and her 10-year-old Indonesia-born son, were being held in Jakarta after being picked up last year without documents allowing her to remain in the Southeast Asian nation, her lawyer Farid Ghozali said. "She was put (in detention) while awaiting her return, which will be facilitated by the British embassy," Indonesian immigration directorate spokesman Ahmad Nursaleh told AFP. The embassy declined to comment, and it was unclear when she might be deported.

Pak SC orders Pearl murderer moved out of jail

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered to shift British-born al-Qaeda terrorist Ahmed Omar Saeed Sheikh, the main accused in the sensational kidnapping and murder of US journalist Daniel Pearl in 2002, from the death row cell to a rest house run by the government.

A three-member bench of the apex court headed by Justice Umar Ata Bandial ordered Sheikh, 46, to be transferred to the general barracks for two days following which he should be shifted to a government rest house by Friday under tight security, where his family will be able to visit from 8am to 5pm, officials said.

However, he will not have access to a mobile phone or internet. The government will pay for his family's accommodation and transport. The court said that Sheikh would be under guard and not allowed to leave the place where he would be kept.

However, the court again rejected the government's appeal to suspend the Sindh High Court's verdict on the acquittal of the accused and asked it to file an appeal against the high court's decision.

Pearl, the 38-year-old South Asia bureau chief for The Wall Street Journal, was abducted and beheaded while he was in Pakistan investigating a story in 2002 on the links between the country's powerful spy agency ISI and al-Qaeda.

In April 2020, a two-judge Sindh High Court bench commuted the death sentence of Sheikh to seven years imprisonment. PTI

India's tax collection shortfall pegged at ₹10L crore

15th Finance Commission says the unrealised sum amounts to 5% of GDP, which could have slashed Centre's debt burden, fiscal deficit

₹3L-cr Revenue foregone in FY20

₹2.8L-cr Revenue forgone by Centre in FY19

0.7% Projected tax-GDP ratio hike in FY21

SUNITA NATTI @ Hyderabad

THAT India's tax collections are often lower than its potential is a known unknown. Perhaps for the first time, the 15th Finance Commission has arrived at an estimate.

Analysing the structural tax gap in India, it pegged the shortfall in tax collections to be over 5% of GDP as against its potential. Taking FY20 GDP of ₹203.4 lakh crore, this translates into over ₹10 lakh crore, or 28% of India's total budget expenditure this fiscal and even next. It'll lower government debt by that much and also reduce fiscal deficit by a significant number. Which is why the Commission recommended urgent operational and policy changes. The government, it appears, is complying.

Numbers that matter

The tax shortfall in FY20 compared to FY19 amounts to a sum that is way higher than the total healthcare budget announced on Monday

On Monday, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman sought to correct the inverted duty structures in GST -- just as the Commission suggested.

Besides, it sought changes in GST's IT system and invoice matching. Importantly, the Commission batted for a review of exemptions, thresholds and concessions in income tax. Sitharaman has already made a beginning in last year's budget giving two options to taxpayers. Starting April, they can stay with the old regime with lower tax rates and claim exemptions, or move to a higher tax rate with no exemptions.

The dominant view is that concessions and exemptions reduce the overall pie of tax revenue available for state and central expenditures. For instance, the projected revenue foregone in FY20 is ₹3 lakh crore, up from ₹2.8 lakh crore in FY19. That's a sum higher than the total healthcare budget announced on Monday.

The Commission believes exemptions under different direct tax laws breed tax evasion, especially, 'by the richer groups' and must be reduced. Here's what it says: "Incentives leading to ambiguous interpretations and evasion will need to be eliminated."

The proposal comes at a time when tax collections over the next five years are set to grow, but not at the desired pace. Based on the Commission's assessment, the tax-GDP ratio could increase by 0.7% from 9.8% in FY21 to 10.5% in the terminal year FY26. This will still be less than the 11% tax-GDP ratio of FY19.

Over the medium term, there should be revenue gains from administrative and procedural improvements leading to better compliance and thus bringing the tax-GDP ratio in line with the trends in the recent past.

In any case, projections are often down to the wire. For instance, the 14th FC projected a trend growth of 15.2% for tax collections during FY16-FY20, while the gross tax revenue grew at a trend rate of 13.9% per year between FY16 and FY19 translating to an aggregate buoyancy of 1.25.

Pay ₹9K crore to unitholders in 20 days, SC tells Franklin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered Franklin Templeton Mutual Fund to disburse ₹9,122 crore within 20 days to the unitholders of its six mutual fund schemes slated for winding up.

A bench comprising justices S A Nazeer and Sanjiv Khanna entrusted SBI Mutual Fund the responsibility of disbursing the amount after all the counsel gave consent to the court's order.

The bench granted liberty to the litigating parties to approach the court in case of any difficulty in the disbursal of money to the unitholders. The court also gave the parties liberty to move applications in case of any difficulty arising out of the process. The bench on January 25 had said it would first deal with the issues related to objection to the e-voting process for winding up of the six mutual fund schemes and distribution of money to the unitholders.

Prior to this, the apex court had granted three days for filing of objections to the e-voting on winding up of six mutual fund schemes of the company.

Earlier, the apex court had asked the SEBI to appoint an observer for overseeing the e-voting process. The voting with regard to winding up Franklin Templeton's six mutual fund schemes had taken place in the last week of December and it has been approved by the majority of unitholders. Franklin Templeton MF closed these six debt mutual fund schemes on April 23, citing redemption pressure and lack of liquidity in the bond market. Till November 27, 2020 the six schemes received total cash flows of ₹11,576 crore since April 24 last year.

UNION BUDGET 2021-22

High debt to GDP ratio to affect ratings

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

BURDENED as it is with a 9.5% fiscal deficit in the current financial year, the Centre's 6.8% target for the next fiscal may hit many roadblocks. Experts say a reading of the fine print, coupled with the harsh realities of a subdued tax collection and high borrowing, indicates that the Centre would be hard put to meet the target.

For one, the planned market borrowing of ₹12 lakh crore in itself could widen the gap between revenue and expenditure. While the tax target is lower than previous year's, revenue receipts are projected to rise by 15% in FY22. For non-tax revenue, the government is heavily reliant on the expected divestment proceeds of ₹1.75 lakh crore and a dividend transfer of ₹1,03,500 crore. While welcoming the bold fiscal stance, experts caution fiscal firepower is limited due to a high debt ratio, which can have impact on India's sovereign rating.

"Deficit targets presented in India's budget on February 1 are high, and medium-term consolidation more gradual than we had expected," Jeremy Zook, director Fitch Ratings' Asia-Pacific Sovereigns team said in a note on Tuesday. The public debt to GDP ratio stands around 90% for India compared with a 53% median for 'BBB' rated economies.

Fitch said though revenue and economic assumptions made in the Budget are 'largely credible', the disinvestment target at over three times of what was achieved in 2020-21, appears optimistic. The government has been able to garner only ₹19,000 crore from divestment proceeds so far this fiscal year against the budgetary target of ₹2.10 lakh crore.

This can impact India's rating. "Signs of a weaker-than-anticipated recovery or a reassessment of medium-term growth potential would make it challenging to achieve a downward trend in the debt ratio and add to pressure on the rating," Zook said.

AN AMBITIOUS BUDGET THAT NEEDS PROPER EXECUTION

SUMIT DUTT MAJUMDER
The writer is former Chairman, Central Board of Excise and Customs

IN a situation where the economy was not doing well, even before the pandemic began, and with it getting further hit by the steps taken to contain the pandemic, it was indeed challenging for the Finance Minister to mobilise revenue from the indirect taxes, since public consumption had come down. Indirect taxes like Customs Duty, Goods and Services Tax and Excise Duty etc. are essentially taxes on consumption. So, boosting the consumption - which would create more demand for the goods and services would result in a greater collection of revenue.

But, for this to happen, strong enforcement action is essential. The Finance Minister has referred to a number of GST evasion cases detected, by use of technology and AI, by the officers of the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC). For boosting consumption, an initial thrust will have to be given by the Centre by pumping liquidity into the economy so that the people's purchasing power increases. There are various ways of doing it. One has seen some good proposals in the budget speech in this regard. But it seems insufficient considering the magnitude of the problem. This is important because the indirect tax revenue will increase proportionally with the increased consumption.

As for the change of rates of Duty of Customs on imported goods, the most important aspect is the imposition of a new cess called AIDC on the import of certain items, including petrol and diesel and some fruits, agricultural food etc., at specified rates. It has been stated that Basic Excise Duty and Special Additional Duty are being reduced.

The collection of Cess while lowering the existing Basic duties of Customs and Excise is advantageous to the Centre, in as much as the Cess collected by Centre is not shared with the States. The revenue of the States, from the divisive pool of revenue between Centre and States, would thus become less and the States may find this problematic.

As for the overall increase of the amount of money to be paid by importers on the import of some agriculture and food products, it is hoped that the government has taken care of the WTO reservations on similar issues in the face of protests from other affected member countries of WTO.

The Finance Minister has also said that the increase in Customs Duties on certain other products will help the local manufacturers, and that it will also boost exports. In some cases this may be true while in many other cases it may not be so, because many exporters use imported goods as components for the assembly or manufacture of export goods, and for them the cost in terms of Customs Duty will increase and they may lose the price-competitive edge. On GST, certain legislative changes have been made on recommendations from the GST Council, in the Central GST (CGST) and Integrated GST (IGST) Acts. It was much hoped by the trade that the GST Council would meet once and sort out certain pressing demands on issues like rationalisation of GST rates and also the reduction of four duty slabs to three slabs etc. However, this didn't happen, and thus an opportunity was lost.

Lack of direct relief hurts pandemic-hit tourism sector

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

IN the long run, the odds might even out, but the tourism sector was banking on Finance Minister to make immediate big-ticket announcements to infuse energy into the business-starved sector. However, the absence of any direct relief came as a bitter disappointment.

"While infra measures may boost tourism over long term, the opportunity for immediate support is lost," said Nakul Anand, Chairman, FAITH.

To ensure that there was an immediate national common tourism vision & revival action plan post Covid across the Centre and states, FAITH had proposed the creation of a National Tourism Council, industry status, income tax exemption on domestic travel, among other things.

Federation of Hotel & Restaurant Associations of India (FHRAI) also said the Budget 2021 has disappointed the hospitality industry.

MARKETS RALLY, BUT NEED TO SUSTAIN THE MOMENTUM

RAJAS KELKAR

THERE was tension in the air ahead of the Budget presentation. Over the past week, benchmark indices corrected over 10%. When trading began on Monday, there was anticipation. But, not many were willing to stick their neck out. All through the Union Budget presentation by finance minister Nirmal Sitharaman, equity indices hovered 1% higher than the previous close.

The India VIX index that measures the volatility in financial markets was the calmest it has ever been on a budget day. As the minister read out the speech, volatility diminished. As soon as she finished her speech, stock indices jumped. The BSE Sensex and the NSE Nifty ended the day over 4% higher than the previous close.

Ahead of the Budget, the market had a checklist. The most important thing is about the way the government announces the expenditure priorities. The stock market likes it when the public money is used for the public good. That means creating new productive physical infrastructure. The government did not disappoint on that count.

The Budget outlined a capital expenditure plan that was 34.5% higher than the previous year. That cheered pro-growth investors. Any money utilised for building roads, bridges, airports, rural and urban infrastructure creates jobs. It helps create jobs and boost consumption.

The other issue of concern was how the government proposes to raise the money to ensure that it has enough to spend on infrastructure. The budget speech announced a borrowing programme not so different from the current financial year. There was a sigh of relief.

The market reaction suggests there are not many concerns about the higher fiscal deficit or the government's excess expenditure over income. Usually, India's fiscal deficit management irks foreign investors. However, it appears that markets expected the government to adopt a loose fiscal policy.

The other end of the Budget is usually the revenue bit. There is not much tinkering with direct and indirect taxes. The government proposes to boost disinvestment and asset monetisation significantly. The Union Budget expects to raise ₹1,75,000 crore in 2021-22. High on the agenda is the initial public offering of the LIC. The government has also announced divesting ownership through a strategic sale in two public sector banks and a general insurance company. The Niti Aayog will determine more public sector companies to take up for disinvestment. That is perhaps why FICCI, an industry body, was quick to call the Budget outstanding and clear-headed.

There was a fear that the government could introduce a new Covid-19 cess on big businesses, the wealthy and foreign institutional investors. However, the finance minister ended her speech without announcing any significant changes in personal tax rates or direct taxes for businesses. The sharp jump in share prices after the address was primarily an expression of relief about taxation.

It is a Budget that works towards boosting capital expenditure and creating opportunities for economic growth. For stock markets, economic growth matters. The year 2020 has disrupted financial assumptions made a year ago. As the economy goes back on track and picks up a growth trajectory, corporate earnings also have to follow suit.

Relief for Amazon as HC stays $3.4 bn RIL-FRL deal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a relief to US e-commerce giant Amazon, the Delhi High Court on Tuesday asked the Future Group not to proceed with its ₹24,713 crore deal with Reliance Industries until an interim order is pronounced.

While ordering status quo, the HC said Emergency Award was enforceable under Section 17 (2) of the Arbitration Act. Amazon had filed a plea before the Delhi High Court seeking enforceability of the Singapore emergency arbitration award, which had asked Future Retail Ltd (FRL) not to proceed with the sale of its warehousing, logistics, and retail business to RIL. Earlier, the Securities Exchange Board of India and the Competition Commission of India had cleared the RIL-FRL deal. The Future Retail said it will explore all legal remedies to pursue its deal with RIL.

Amazon's lawyer Gopal Subramanium told the Delhi HC that the e-tailer was not exercising control over FRL but simply safeguarding its protective rights. He added Future Group promoter Kishore Biyani and his family had sought ₹500 crore from Amazon as FRL was staring at bankruptcy. He further said FRL's more than 50% shares are held by the Biyanis and Future Coupons Limited (FCL). FRL told the stock exchanges in a filing that the company will explore all legal remedies and take appropriate steps to pursue the scheme of arrangement before NCLT. The application has not been taken by NCLT yet.

HOW JOE TOOK SWEEP ROOT...

The shot has been England captain's go-to against spinners and one which has fetched him runs in the sub-continent

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

IN hindsight, it was in evidence in his very first Test innings at Nagpur in late 2012. Joe Root, during his critical 73 off 229 balls, used three different forms of the sweep — conventional, paddle and the reverse — against three of India's four frontline spinners: Ravichandran Ashwin, Pragyan Ojha and Piyush Chawla. Even if the sweep was still a popular shot to employ in India, overseas batsmen tended to use it as a last resort. Most of them couldn't read the spinners so they swept. Root, even then, swept because he believed.

Four years later, as part of The Big Four, Root had become the batsman the prophecies had pointed to when he was in his teens at Yokrshire. Even if that 2016 series wasn't a kind one for England — they lost 0-4 — their No 3 was amongst the runs. His 491 runs across five Tests was second only to Virat Kohli. Among visiting batsmen, only five players have scored more in India in a series this century.

What stood out was the way Root had improved his sweeping game. He had also developed a powerful sweep for deliveries wide outside off. He swept them in front of square on the leg side for four. Two innings, his century at Rajkot in the first Test and a sweeping clinic on a deteriorating pitch at Mumbai where he made 77 in the fourth Test, were works of art.

In the four years since, England's red and pink ball captain has further worked on it. One number that Cricviz put out after his double century against Sri Lanka in January reveals a story. Since 2018 November, he averages 300 while playing it.

So how did he develop it? Kevin Sharp, one of Root's first coaches at Yorkshire, narrates a story that really brings to the fore the way Root thinks about the game. "When Root had first gotten a scholarship and started playing for the club, he was still small," Sharp remembers. "He realised pretty quickly that he didn't have the power to step out and hit them over long on... in front of square. So he started practicing the sweep and he had those variations even then. He practiced the conventional sweep, the slog sweep and the reverse sweep. Even back then, he had wanted to compensate for a lack of power game so kept working on his sweeps.

"I am a big believer that repeated meaningful practice can achieve perfection and that's what you are seeing today."

Sharp adds: "Even though he had a sudden growth at 16 or 17, he kept working on his sweep during his training. When he had became confident with the conventional sweep, he started working on the reverse as well as the slog. That work ethic to constantly working on your game, not just strengthening your strong points but working on other aspects of the sweep is what sets him out."

As the UK was going through its first lockdown in May, 'The R66T Academy' (Root's father, Matt, is the director), uploaded two videos on YouTube. One was titled 'Joe Root Masterclass — Sweep shot'. The other was titled 'Joe Root Masterclass — Reverse Sweep'. When you click on it and watch Root take you through the two shots, it's like listening to Dumbledore on how to use a wand. Just before Christmas, Sharp got Root on a Zoom call to get the 30-year-old to pass on a few tips to the next generation of Worcester players. "Root was very good as always, he narrated his experiences while growing up, passed on some tips." Including on how to play the sweep.

IMPACT PLAYER JOE ROOT

While England have other match-winners, this could really come down to their No. 4 vs the hosts' spinners. If he can repeat what he did in Sri Lanka, the visitors will be able to build from there. Coming at No 4, he not only lends some stability to an insecure top-order, but he can dictate the tempo against the spinners. His one 100 and five 50s in six Tests — he has scored at least one 50 in every Test he has played in India — suggests exactly that.

Odisha FC sack Baxter after rape comment

TANMAY DAS @ Bhubaneswar

INDIAN Super League side Odisha FC sacked Stuart Baxter after the club's coach aired a disgusting rape analogy following their match against Jamshedpur on Monday.

"You need decisions to go your way and they didn't. I don't know when we're going to get a penalty. I think one of my players would have to rape someone or get raped himself if he was going to get a penalty." He aired those views to the official broadcaster after the 1-0 loss.

Odisha acted swiftly and condemned the comments made by the 67-year-old by removing him as their head coach. "The club is appalled at the comments made by head coach, Stuart Baxter during the post-match interview today (Monday). It is completely unacceptable whatever the context and does not reflect the values of the club. We, at Odisha FC, unreservedly apologize," the club said on Monday. The club's CEO Rohan Sharma also came forward to offer an apology. "On my behalf and the club, I sincerely apologise to everyone," he tweeted.

Ideal occasion to Pant on Rishabh at home

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

HORSES for courses has been the Indian team's mantra for success in recent times. Players who are certainties in home conditions have at times been forced to warm the benches on overseas tours.

Now the dilemma before the team management is who should be the first wicketkeeper against England for the First Test that starts in Chennai from February 5. The choice is between Wriddhiman Saha and Rishabh Pant.

Wriddhiman Saha is quality wicketkeeper with better skill sets than Rishabh Pant. In normal circumstances Saha would have walked into the Indian playing XI. But Pant's match-saving and match-winning shows against Australia in the Sydney and Brisbane Tests may force the team management to do away with the idea of playing Saha at home and Pant outside Asia.

Former Indian wicketkeepers agree in unison that Pant has to improve his wicketkeeping skills, but insist that the 23-year old must be persisted with against England for his stupendous show in Brisbane.

Former India wicketkeeper Bharath Reddy believes Pant, after his exploits at the Gabba, should take the field against England at Chepauk on February 5. "Ideally my choice of first wicketkeeper would have been Saha who is technically a very good wicketkeeper.But Pant with his exploits at the Gabba where he proved to be a match winner should be given a chance to continue against England," said Reddy.

Even though he was good with the bat, Pant dropped Australian opener Will Pucovski on 26 and 32 on Day 1 of the third Test in Sydney which came under sharp criticism. Reddy said that the problem with Pant is gym culture.

"Pant needs to work a lot on his wicket keeping skills. The main problem with him is, he is stiff. Too much of workouts and body building during weight training has led him to be stiff while standing behind the wickets. One needs to be supple and flexible, being rigid does not help," he said.

Another former India wicketkeeper and noted coach Chandrakant Pandit said that Pant has to work on his skills. "Players like MS Dhoni and Adam Gilchrist have changed the perception of a wicketkeeper today. An youngster believes that if can bat well and just about keep wickets he can get into the side. But people forget that both Dhoni and Gilchrist were excellent wicketkeepers too."

Try to copy Thiem a lot, says Nagal

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

IN the three main draw matches that Sumit Nagal has played at Majors, he has faced two World No 3 (Dominic Thiem at US Open in 2020 and Roger Federer in the same place a year earlier). For a young player trying to get some wins, that's rough. Nagal doesn't expect this trend to change. "I was talking about this with my coach (Sascha Nensel) last night (Monday). I have a feeling that I will play a top-10 player," he told during a virtual conference from Melbourne on Tuesday.

But the World No 139, who received a wild card to play at the Australian Open, gave a relatively good account of himself in both matches. After nicking a set off Federer, his straight sets loss won him some fans. When asked if playing the cream of the crop, brings the best out of him, he replied in the affirmative. "It is (the case) with a lot of players... they perform better when they are up against really good players. For me, I get to learn playing them so I don't mind playing big players, someone in the top 10," he said.

While Nagal's long-term aim is to breach the top 60, he hopes to copy a tennis player while climbing up the leaderboard: Thiem. "I could learn a lot from Thiem," he said. "I would like to play the way he plays, solid backhand, serves well... I try to copy him a lot." When he says copy, he doesn't just mean aping his one-handed backhand. He wants to bring the same intensity. "The way he trains, his intensity is pretty high. He makes sure that whatever he does, he does it right. He is very disciplined, he doesn't really show bad behaviour during matches."

That's the easy part. The harder part is converting the potential he has shown to something tangible.

Mary bats for Singh

ENS/AGENCIES @ Chennai

AFTER being postponed twice, the Boxing Federation of India (BFI) election is set to be held in Gurugram on Wednesday. The outcome could change the fate of the sport in the country. Current president Ajay Singh, who has been in office since 2016, will be challenged by former Mumbai Cricket Association chief Ashish Shelar for the top post. On the eve of the big contest, star boxer MC Mary Kom made it clear who she's rooting for.

"Ajay Singh has stood by all the players, their needs and requirements. In my long stint in boxing, he probably is the only administrator who has whole-heartedly only thought good for Indian boxing and the boxers, right from the juniors to the elites. Support like that gets the best out of the players and you can see that from the remarkable performances boxers have produced in the last four year," Mary Kom, who's currently training in IIS, Bellary, said.

Kom's sentiments are true in regards to boxers' performance. Ever since Singh's arrival, the boxers have improved leaps and bounds. The fact that a record nine Indians have qualified for Tokyo Olympics so far is a testament to that.

Premier League clubs spent just £70 million ($96 million) during the January transfer window as the coronavirus pandemic hit budgets: the lowest total in the winter window since 2012. Here's a quick look at the deals...

LOW AFTER RECENT HIGH

The outlay was dramatically down on last year's £230 million expenditure, which came just weeks before the Covid-19 pandemic. And it is in sharp contrast to a bumper summer transfer window, when English top-flight clubs spent freely despite the lingering uncertainties to ensure total net expenditure for the 2020/21 season reach record levels of £950 million.

Amad Diallo | Atalanta to Man United | £37.2m Said Benrahma | Brentford to West Ham | £20m Morgan Sanson | Marseille to Aston Villa | £14m A significant chunk of Diallo's transfer is payments depending on his future performances with United.

FEW BIG SIGNINGS

Manchester United's Amad Diallo, Aston Villa new boy Morgan Sanson and West Brom pair Mbaye Diagne and Robert Snodgrass were among the handful of high-profile permanent signings as teams made the decision to rely on their existing squads or relied on loans.

BACK RELIEF FOR REDS

Liverpool borrowed much-needed defensive cover in the form of Schalke's Ozan Kabak, along with a low-cost permanent deal for Preston's Ben Davies, while Martin Odegaard (Arsenal) and Jean-Philippe Mateta (Crystal Palace) were other temporary arrivals.

£1.4m

Despite just £7 million being spent on deadline day, down from £25 million a year earlier, January's business took EPL spending for the season to £1.4 bn.

£24.6m

With the pandemic still raging, La Liga spent fewer than 25mn pounds on transfers.

Relaxation clause in Sports Code raises questions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

IN a move that could apparently dilute the National Sports Code of India, 2011, the sports ministry has decided to add a relaxation clause provision in it. A circular in this regard was issued by L Siddhartha Singh, joint secretary of the sports ministry, on Monday.

"Government shall have the power to relax any of the provisions of the National Sports Code of India, 2011 and other instructions issued with regard to recognition of NSFs, renewal of recognition of federations on annual basis and governance and management of Indian Olympic Association and NSFs, as a special exemption where considered necessary and expedient for the promotion of sports, sportspersons or to remove difficulties in giving true effect to that particular provision of the Sports Code, always being guided by and not inconsistent with the overarching spirit of good governance and ethical conduct enshrined in the Sports Code 2011," read the circular.

"The reasons for such relaxation shall be recorded in writing. Power to relax the provisions will vest with minister in-charge of the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports," added the circular. Sports lawyer Rahul Mehra has moved the Delhi HC to direct ministry to ensure the NSFs follow the code.

China has arrested over 80 people for smuggling and supplying counterfeit Covid-19 vaccines, amid reports that some of the jabs have already made their way to Africa, the reports said on Tuesday. Apart from the arrests, 3,000 doses of the fake vaccines were confiscated from the accused.

Russia vaccine 91.6% effective

Serious adverse events or those requiring hospital admission were rare in Phase 3 trials

HEALTH

PARIS: Russia's Sputnik V vaccine is 91.6 percent effective against symptomatic Covid-19, according to results published in The Lancet on Tuesday that independent experts said allayed transparency concerns over the jab, which Moscow is already rolling out.

Sputnik V was approved in Russia months before results from its final-stage clinical trials were published, leading to scepticism from experts.

But the new analysis of data from 20,000 participants in Phase 3 trials suggests that the two-dose vaccination offers more than 90 percent efficacy against symptomatic Covid-19. "The development of the Sputnik V vaccine has been criticised for unseemly haste, corner cutting, and an absence of transparency," said an independent Lancet commentary by Ian Jones of the University of Reading and Polly Roy of the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

"But the outcome reported here is clear and the scientific principle of vaccination is demonstrated, which means another vaccine can now join the fight to reduce the incidence of Covid-19."

The results suggest Sputnik V is among the top performing vaccines, along with the Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna jabs that also reported more than 90 percent efficacy.

Pre-empting the results of the phase 3 trials, Russia has already launched a mass inoculation campaign for citizens 18 and older. Several countries around the world have already registered Sputnik V, according to the Russian Direct Investment Fund.

In January, Chancellor Angela Merkel said Germany had offered Russia support in Moscow's development of Sputnik V, after Russian authorities said they had applied for registration in the EU.

Global response

The trial involved giving 14,964 participants in the vaccine group and 4,902 in the placebo group two jabs 21 days apart. Those taking part were tested at enrolment into the trial, again when they had the second dose and then after that if they reported symptoms.

From the second dose, 16 cases of symptomatic Covid-19 were confirmed in the vaccine group and 62 cases were reported in the placebo group, giving an efficacy equivalent to 91.6 percent. The authors said, however, that efficacy was only calculated on symptomatic cases and said more research would be needed to assess how it affects asymptomatic disease.

They added that the follow-up period was around 48 days from the first dose, so the full period of protection is still unknown. The trial is ongoing and plans to recruit a total of 40,000 people.

Sputnik V uses two different disarmed strains of the adenovirus, a virus that causes the common cold, as vectors to deliver the vaccine dose. Developers said that using a different adenovirus vector for the booster vaccination minimises the risk of the immune system developing resistance to the initial vector.

DENMARK

Effigy of the PM burnt: Lockdown fury erupts in Copenhagen as effigy of PM Mette Frederiksen hung up and burnt. Vaccinations running at less than third of UK rate, with 228,875 jabs given – three per cent of 5.8 million population

IRELAND

Mounting anger: Fury over figures showing that shot rates in North up to five times higher than in Republic. Just 161,500 vaccinated of 4.7 million population. Jabs for health staff postponed. Police can impose on-spot fines for lockdown breaches

GERMANY

'Biggest crisis since the second world war': Apocalyptic verdict of health minister Jens Spahn about vaccine shortage, with only 2.7 percent of country's 83 million people given jab. Target of immunising all care home residents by mid-February in doubt

FRANCE

National humiliation: Prestigious Pasteur Institute forced to scrap development of a jab after failed trials. President Emmanuel Macron pilloried during strikes in Lyons, and other cities. Only 1.4 million jabs given in country of 67 million

SPAIN

Vaccines halted: Madrid's deputy leader warns that at current rate, it will take until 2023 before 70 per cent of population inoculated. Dwindling stocks have led to almost all vaccinations being stopped for two weeks. Only half of Spain's weekly delivery of 350,000 Pfizer doses arrived last week

ITALY, 10 DAYS BEHIND SCHEDULE: Domenico Arcuri, country's vaccine tsar, says supplies will continue to fall behind expectations. Only 1.8 million of 60 million population given jab.

Europe's fumble with vaccine rollout sparks backlash

The EU has come under increasing pressure in recent days as it was forced to revise its original vaccination targets in the face of supply problems. On January 19, it said it aimed to vaccinate 80 per cent of health professionals and people aged over 80 by March. But even with existing supply of vaccines, a disastrous rollout in many countries has sparked unrest and rioting

LATVIA

Chaos: Largest of EU's three ex-Soviet Baltic states admits mass vaccination of its two million people won't begin before April. Only 30 first-time doses given on Thursday, while 738 people received second shot. Total jabs so far is 23,091. Country was offered 800,000 Pfizervaccines and PM Arturs Krisjanis Karins has said he is 'confused', claiming someone 'in our system' decided secretly to take only 97,500.

POLAND

Major unrest: Only 1.1 million jabbed of 38 million population. Long queues at medical centres led to demonstrations, including one in Warsaw by senior citizens, who protested outside the capital's Chancellery about waiting times for jabs. Shortage of doses has caused some hospitals to suspend sessions and anger over claims that celebrities and politicians jumped the queue

BULGARIA

Bottom of the EU vaccine table: Only 40,000 doses given and one of highest mortality rates among seven million population. Government has no deadlines, merely 'optimistic' target of vaccinating 1.5-2 million people by end of August

NETHERLANDS

Riots: Ugly scenes in Amsterdam, Eindhoven, The Hague and other cities as mobs burn cars and hurl bricks at police during anti-curfew protests. Only 215,000 people vaccinated of 17.3 million population

7600	Just 7,600 of 1.3 million population have received two jabs (34,019 have had one) in Estonia
40	Polls suggest up to 40 per cent of population may refuse to be vaccinated in Lithuania
1.1	Only 1.1 million jabbed of 38 million population in Poland

Spacewalkers complete four years of power upgrades

SPACE

CAPE CANAVERAL: A pair of spacewalking astronauts completed a four-year effort to modernise the International Space Station's power grid on Monday, installing one last battery.

Over the weekend, flight controllers in Houston used the space station's big robot arm to replace the last pair of old-style batteries with a single better-quality one. NASA's Mike Hopkins and Victor Glover put the finishing touches on this newest lithium-ion battery to complete a series of spacewalks that began in 2017.

Although the spacewalk got started late, Hopkins and Glover hustled through the battery work in under an hour. They also made quick work of camera installations and squeezed in some extra chores.

The astronauts gazed down at Earth and soaked in one last sunset before reentering the space station. "Yeah, enjoy the view. You guys did a great job today. You guys rocked it," Mission Control said as the five-hour spacewalk concluded well ahead of schedule.

The space station is now equipped with 24 lithium-ion batteries to store power collected by the solar panels. The big, boxy batteries, surpassing 400 pounds each, provide electricity for the orbiting lab when it's on the night side of Earth. They're so powerful that only half as many are needed as the old nickel-hydrogen batteries they replaced.

The upgrade took longer than expected after one of the new batteries failed after it was installed two years ago and had to be replaced. In all, 14 spacewalks were needed to complete the battery work.

NASA expects these batteries to last the rest of the space station's operating life. Besides battery work, Hopkins and Glover installed a new camera on the US Destiny lab and replaced parts in the camera system outside the station's Japanese lab, named Kibo.

During a spacewalk last Wednesday, the two astronauts made improvements to the European lab, Columbus. Two more spacewalks will be conducted in about a month to get ready for additional solar panels set for delivery later this year. Seven astronauts currently live on the space station: four Americans, two Russians and one Japanese.

Out-of-this-world wine back in Bordeaux

SPACE

BORDEAUX: Twelve bottles of Bordeaux wine and dozens of vine shoots are back at home in southwest France after spending months on the International Space Station (ISS) for an unusual astro-chemistry experiment.

The red wine and 320 mature shoots known as canes arrived Monday after their return to Earth via a Dragon capsule operated by SpaceX, the private launching company created by Elon Musk.

They will be analysed at the Institute of Vine and Wine Science in Bordeaux to see how the stresses produced by zero gravity affect both grape growth and the finished product, which could spur new agricultural research.

"The WISE Mission is the first private applied research programme aimed at using spatial conditions to tackle agricultural challenges of tomorrow, on a warmer planet and with less water," said Nicolas Gaume.

UK Covid variant has mutated again

HEALTH

LONDON: Scientists have found that the Kent variant of Covid-19, which has been spreading around the United Kingdom, appears to be undergoing some worrying new genetic changes.

The tests on some samples showed a mutation, called E484K, which has already been found in the South Africa and Brazil variants. According to the scientists, although this change may reduce vaccine effectiveness, the current ones in use should still work.

The UK has already stepped up measures to control the spread of new variants as urgent testing for the South Africa variant is starting in parts of the country and travel restrictions have been introduced to stop more cases entering from abroad, the BBC reported on Tuesday.

The experts found only 11 out of 214,159 samples with the E484K mutation. It's not unexpected that variants are appearing or that they will continue to change — all viruses mutate as they make new copies of themselves to spread and thrive, the report said.

Some research appears to show E484K may help the virus evade parts of the immune system called antibodies. But early results from Moderna suggest its vaccine is still effective against variants with this mutation — although the body's immune response may not be as strong or prolonged.

Two new Covid-19 vaccines that could be approved soon — one from Novavax and another from Janssen — appear to offer some protection too, the report said.

Even in the worst case scenario, vaccines can be redesigned and tweaked to be a better match in a matter or weeks or months, if necessary, say experts. A silver lining may be that the variants are mutating in a similar way rather than diverging from each other.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Poaching in SA sees big drop

WILDLIFE

The number of rhinos killed in South Africa last year dropped by 33 percent, official figures showed Monday, partly helped by a coronavirus national lockdown which severely limited movement by poachers. But the gains were marginally reversed when movement restrictions were loosened. At least 394 rhinos were slaughtered in 2020, down from the 594 recorded the previous year, Environment Minister Barbara Creecy said in a statement. Most of the rhinos — 245 —were killed in the Kruger National Park. South Africa has seen its poaching numbers steadily decrease for the sixth straight year.

Bull-running fest cancelled

CULTURE

The northern Spanish region of Navarra has announced the cancellation of the famed annual San Fermín bull-running festival in Pamplona for a second year in a row of because of the pandemic. "An international festival like San Fermín, in which millions of people come to Navarra, is not going to be possible," said regional president María Chivite. The nine-day festival in July is easily Spain's most international event. The festival was popularized by Ernest Hemingway's 1926 novel The Sun Also Rises and up to last year's cancellation had last been called off during the Spanish Civil War in the 1930s.

MORE CHAOS

59 homes lost in Perth, more threatened in Australian wildfire

DISASTER

PERTH (AUSTRALIA): An out-of-control wildfire burning northeast of the Australian west coast city of Perth has destroyed at least 59 homes and was threatening more Tuesday, with many residents across the region told it is too late to leave.

The 7,000-hectare blaze, which has a 80-kilometer perimeter, began on Monday and raged through the night near the town of Wooroloo, with the shires of Mundaring, Chittering, Northam, and the city of Swan affected.

"Firefighters have done a remarkable job in some of the most challenging conditions that we've experienced in the metropolitan region for some time," Western Australia state Department of Fire and Emergency Services Commissioner Darren Klemm said.

"Tragically, 59 properties have been lost in this fire and that number may increase as we continue to assess the extent of the damage," Klemm added.

Six firefighters sustained minor injuries, Australian Broadcasting Corp. reported. No other injuries were reported.

The fire doubled in size overnight and burned through 7,366 hectares of farm and woodland, officials said.

State Premier Mark McGowan said 80% of all properties at Tilden Park near Gidgegannup on Perth's northeast rural fringe have been lost.

McGowan said a large aerial tanker was flying from the Australian east coast to help fight the blaze. "This is an extremely dangerous fire and a serious situation. Weather conditions are extremely volatile," McGowan said.

"Please do everything you can to keep you and your family safe and look after each other," he added.

People in a 25-kilometer stretch west from Wooroloo to the Walyunga National Park northeast of Perth were told Tuesday it had become too dangerous to leave their homes.

"You must shelter before the fire arrives, as the extreme heat will kill you well before the flames reach you," a warning said.Roads out of semi-rural suburb The Vines on Perth's northern outskirts were bumper-to-bumper with traffic, making some people choose to stay.

Melissa Stahl, 49, heeded a text telling her to evacuate.

"I could smell the fire and went out the back and the whole yard was filled with smoke," she said. "We grabbed bedding, photos, the two kids and the dog and got out of there."

A warning to other threatened areas told people to leave if they are not prepared to fight the blaze. The bushfire is unpredictable and weather conditions are rapidly changing, the warning said, urging people to stay vigilant.

Department of Fire and Emergency Services Superintendent Peter Sutton said about 250 firefighters had been battling the erratic fire.

It was US president Woodrow Wilson's Fourteen Points declaration — outlining proposals for post-war peace settlement — that inspired the creation of this organisation

FALLING FROM WITHIN

Besides aggressor nations undermining the League's authority, Britain and France ignoring its attempts to appease Hitler led to the League's failure in the 1930s; and arguably led to World War II

With outdoors becoming the buzzword to ride through the pandemic, Bengalureans are rediscovering the joys of cycling through the scenic parts of the city

MONIKA MONALISA

Trying to keep up with your fitness goals can be hard at any point, but particularly so, during the pandemic, when there's worry looming large. But trust Bengalureans to find a different way to get fit. Many of them are taking up good-old cycling which also provides the much-needed Vitamin D and fresh air. This latest hobby has also brought in a change in their otherwise monotonous routines.

With work life slowly picking up, people find cycling to be high on cardio and low on the pocket. Jayant Gauri, an entrepreneur, picked up cycling just after things eased post the first lockdown. "The streets were empty, the air was fresh and there was this itch to go somewhere since we were all under lockdown for so long. A few friends and I got together and started cycling to the outskirts of the city, that would keep us active as well as would give us the satisfaction of meeting people," says Jayant, who divides his routine between doing cycling within the city limits and taking off to the outskirts once in a while.

While in the city, destinations include the city's prominent landmarks like MG Road, Ulsoor lake or old hang out spots. Outskirt trips, on the other hand, need some amount of planning. "Since we are amateur cyclists, doing too much of it mindlessly could be a health hazard. We used to drive to a safe spot on the outskirts where we would park our cars which had bikes perched," adds Jayant, adding that this has helped them explore many places which they would otherwise never have visited.

These short drives also cure the urge to escape on a vacation, something that is required after work in the recent times has taken off full-swing. "Now that we have started going to office, it's difficult to take longer breaks. This way you feel like you've gone on a mini vacation," says Shravan Darasi, a techie.

The only downside to this new pastime is the early morning wake-up time. Rupali Prakash, a city based illustrator, starts as early as 4.30am to reach her destination on time. "I am usually a morning person but that is little too early for me too," laughs Prakash, adding that this is a nice way to hang out with friends rather than catching up on drinks or anything else.

The trend has also reached the Sandalwood industry. One look at the Instagram accounts of actors Diganth Manchale and Aindrita Ray and you can imagine the avid cyclists the couple is. While Manchale is known for his love for adventure sports, Ray has often mentioned that her love for cycling is inspired by her better half. Ganesh has also got hooked to it and has been seen cycling on the sets of his upcoming movie Gaalipatta 2.

The best part about cycling for me is that it's liberating. It's simple and gives great pleasure, keeping you fit and happy at the same time. Some of the destinations we cycle through are Sakleshpur, Kudremukh, Chikmagalur among many others. People should learn about seat adjustment according to their body weight before going for longer road trips

Actor Priyanka Chopra speaks about her recent Netflix release, The White Tiger, while touching on her autobiography, Unfinished, and what life is like as a Hollywood producer

'I am terrified about the world reading my book'

EXPRESS FEATURES

Priyanka Chopra was all smiles on account of the positive reception meted out to The White Tiger. The actor, who co-produced the direct-to-Netflix film, is thought to be a strong shout for the 'Best Supporting Actress' Oscar this year. Priyanka, in London where she is preparing for Citadel, executive produced by the Russo Brothers, expressed her gratitude at being recognised among the many "stunning female performers in the film". In a chat arranged as part of E-Expressions, a series of webinars organised by The New Indian Express group, Priyanka Chopra spoke with senior journalist Kaveree Bamzai about several topics, including work in Hollywood and her views about the representation of minorities.

Priyanka shared that the grey shades of her character Pinky made The White Tiger journey particularly interesting for her. "Pinky wants to help people, but only within her comfort zone. She tries to be fakely woke and empathetic with Balram's character without realising her high ground. No matter how good a person's intentions are, it is good only after it turns into action." She also stated her belief that the message in the film is relevant not just for the Indian audience but also for the world. "The White Tiger is a reminder for us to think about how desensitised we are about equality. The message is more relevant now as the pandemic has shown us that class division is very much real."

Priyanka is a strong believer in creating change through art. "I am not a governor or lawmaker, but I can use my abilities in cinema to start the right conversations. These sparks result in changes. I want to produce opportunities for minorities and the underrepresented. I am a big champion for equality. Creating an alternate space for talents that have not found opportunities is my first step to achieving some equality," she stated.

> I am also in talks for a Hindi film made by my friends. I hope to return to Bollywood soon
>
> Priyanka Chopra, actor

The actor went on to speak about her rather frivolous use of social media. "I have never been one to discuss serious life issues there. Though there is great joy in being able to directly communicate with the people who love me, I remain cautious about the small community of people who thrive in spewing hate and venom."

Priyanka is presently awaiting the launch of her autobiography, Unfinished, that she wrote during the lockdown. "I am terrified about the world reading it, but I am glad that I have reached a place where I am content and self-assured. Even though I have shared many traumatic incidents, I no longer shy away from talking about them."

The work she put in the past decade, she said, is paying dividends finally. "I have many exciting updates to share. I have finished shooting for the Matrix film and Text for You during the pandemic. Citadel will keep me busy till the end of the year. I am also in talks for a Hindi film made by my friends. I hope to return to Bollywood soon."

TIME OVER DIME

We are working on a documentary to depict the employment hardships, educational challenges, and social exclusion faced by the transgender community

Vinith Kumar, student

SANATH PRASAD

It's a fine balancing act between academics and aspiration for engineering student Vinith Kumar. The founder of Tat Tvam Asi, a social organisation based in Bengaluru comprising 40 members in the age group of 9 and 22, has undertaken a project to create a sense of inclusivity in society.

Called Project Transition, the current initiative is dedicated to the transgender community. "We are working on a documentary to depict the employment hardships, educational challenges, and social exclusion faced by them. We are also creating a platform to work with our organisation and offer them small businesses to run, like tailoring, weaving and nursing," adds 22-year-old Vinith.

The signs of inclusivity are already showing, with Durga K, a transwoman residing in Cox Town, feeling a part of Vinith's family. We talk like friends and they are one among us now. Many in our community have dreams to live life normally. But we cannot. We are fortunate to have Vinith and his team help us fulfill such dreams," says Durga.

In addition, the NGO reaches out to orphanages and old-age homes. So far they have visited 30 old age homes in areas around Baiyappanahalli, Horamavu, Shivajinagar, and Tin Factory. Sessions on sex education, good touch bad touch are often conducted to create awareness on sensitive issues. Samson, a supervisor at Adarsha Kannada Mahila Makkala Samsthe in Parvathinagar says, "Hardly anyone visits us here because the orphanage is located very far away. But Vinith and his friends visit us regularly to entertain the kids and engagi them with interesting games."

At nursing homes, the team spends time with senior citizens by listening to their stories and life experience. They also make them dance to film numbers, organise musical events, and help them rejuvenate their day. Cynthia Cunliffe, owner of Ashley Care homes, Horamavu, says, "When youngsters come and interact with the senior citizens, they feel very relieved. We were taken aback seeing the senior citizens dance for the first time with full enthusiasm."

Engineering student Ragavi Balasubramaniam, a volunteer, says that many rejected their welfare activities due to age. "But we are happy we are overcoming that challenge and still making a difference in the lives of those who are underprivileged," says the 22-year old.

FIT BIT

JATHARA PARIVARTANASANA B

(BELLY TWIST POSE B)

In Sanskrit, Jathara means 'abdomen,' parivarta means 'turning' and asana means 'pose'. This is a twist that lengthens and realigns the spine, relieves headaches and fatigue, and eliminates stress. This twist purifies and detoxifies the body, massages the inner organs and supports metabolism. It relieves stress and calms and harmonizes the body/mind. By stimulating the abdominal organs, it activates the Manipura (solar plexus) chakra, which is the center of inner power.

STEPS

- Lie in a supine position with palms facing upwards. Inhale, bend your knees, drawing the thighs towards your torso.
- Exhale, release the legs to the outside edge of right hand, extending from the hips.
- Keep the left leg on top of the right and start to move the legs simultaneously while keeping the shoulder blades on the ground.
- Straighten the legs slowly and stretch them with breath awareness. Deepen the twist, bring the legs in line with the waist, resting them on the floor on your right side.
- Bring the legs towards the arms on every inhalation.
- Stretching the arms, gently twist towards the left, with neck and face turned left.
- Now, the spine is flat and the legs are perpendicular to the body. If knees are not dropping to the ground, by right hand push the legs down very gently.
- Hold this posture for about 6 deep breaths, initially.
- Now, bend legs at the knees, look to the centre, inhale and bring the thighs and knees to the chest. Exhale completely, with another inhalation, take them towards the left side and repeat.
- Repeat for 8-10 breaths.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the shoulders, arms, hamstrings, buttocks, calves, chest, abdomen and lower back.
- Manipura Chakra stimulates the abdomen and other internal organs. Improves spine muscles flexibility, shoulders and hips.
- Tones internal organs, stretching the deeper tissues and ligaments.
- The body is energised by the release of these tensions.
- The lumbar spine tension is released and reduces back/neck pain. Controls menstruation symptoms and helps bladder issues.
- Parasympathetic nervous system is stimulated.

LIMITATIONS

- People have injuries of the hips, spine, shoulders, neck, knees, ankles, or rib cage, and abdominal, hip replacement and herniated disc, avoid this.
- Pregnant or post pregnant women and arthritis patients must seek guidance of a yoga expert.

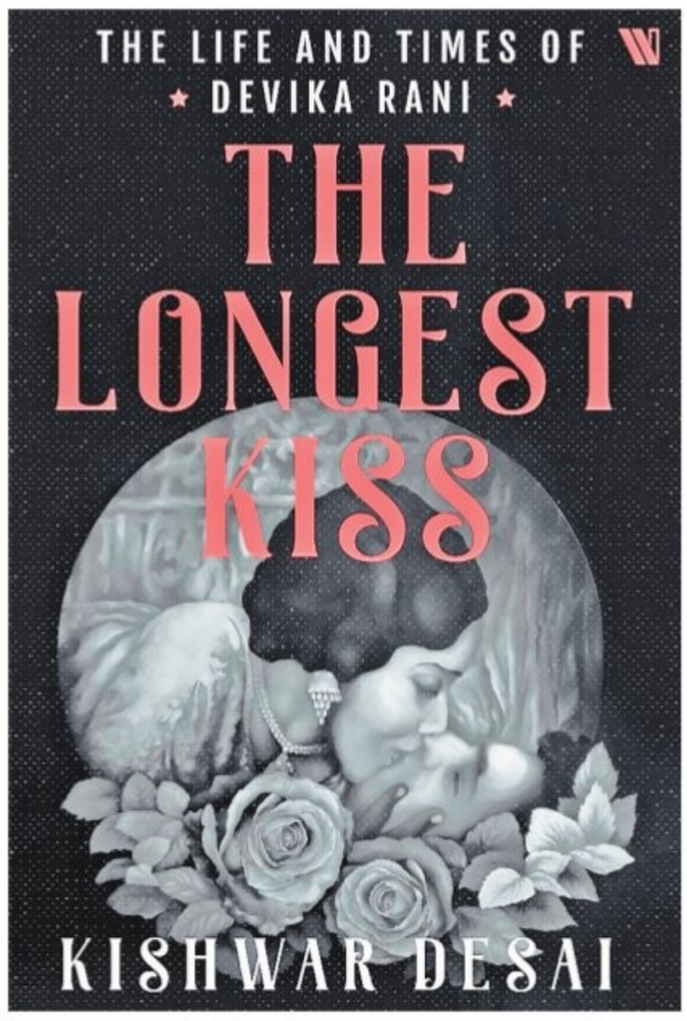
BEHIND THE REEL LIFE

There is much more to Devika Rani's life than her on-screen kiss and marriage to painter Svetoslav Roerich, says author Kishwar Desai, as she talks to CE about her latest book on the late Indian actor

MONIKA MONALISA



Often called the first actress of the Indian cinema, Devika Rani remains one of the most talked about actors in Indian cinema. Chronicling her life in the book, The Longest Kiss: The Life and Times of Devika Rani (Westland, ₹599), is Kishwar Desai, who delves into Devika Rani's contribution to films, and her life beyond controversies. Excerpts from an interview:

What was it about Devika Rani's life that fascinated you and prompted you to document it?

I have always been interested in the origins of early Indian cinema – and the story of its early globalisation – as represented by the work done by Devika Rani, her husband Himansu Rai, and their collaborators such as Niranjan Pal. Her contribution to cinema has been completely overlooked. Yet, there was a good reason Himansu brought her on board as the face of his first international Talkie, Karma, as well as the Bombay Talkies studio, because she personified the modernisation. She was a private person. I realised that we required a proper biography of her contribution, but all I found about her was innuendo and a lot of slander but very little real information.

She ran Bombay Talkies after Himansu Rai's death at a time when the industry was very male-centric. How ahead of her time was she?

She described herself as a career woman, who strongly believed in financial independence. She sat on the management board of Bombay Talkies and became the only actress of her time who was a shareholder in the management agency, as well as the sole producer and controller of productions. Unlike other artistes who could not take the pressure and fell apart or became alcoholics, Devika took the ups and downs in her stride.

Q&A

The book is called The Longest Kiss. Can you share any behind-the-scene moments from the famous scene?

'The Longest Kiss' in Indian cinema was for a long time attributed to the film Karma (1933). Behind the scenes, what no one knew was that Devika had written the film treatment and story line, and this kiss was very much a part of it, and written into the script by her. She was never given the credit for the film treatment. But for the record, it was her first and last on-screen kiss.

She spent the last part of her life in Bengaluru. Is there anything that struck you about those days?

Her yearning for a normal life only became apparent when she met Svetoslav Roerich, her second husband. For his sake, she wished she could have been as gentle as before: an "uncrushed flower", not one that had been trampled upon. I visited Bengaluru where she had lived, and even the Ashoka Hotel where she and Svetoslav stayed for a few years. However, I found that the stories here were many, but mostly about their social interactions, and the work done by Svetoslav. The part that fascinated me was how she continued to appear in public with full make-up, powdered and coiffed till her last days. What was terrible was how the couple had been exploited by their attendants and others, and so much of their wonderful collection of art, jewellery, coins, shawls and so many other beautiful things were stolen or smuggled out of the country. I was impressed with how she managed to turn their Tataguni estate into a wonderful business, planting trees from which oil is extracted – to be used for cosmetics and perfumes.

How long did it take you to finish the book?

I am usually a fast writer. But in this case it was like piecing together a jigsaw puzzle – and none of the papers or interviews or reviews were in chronological order. During the lockdown, I spread the papers all over the house, and put them in place. The book was written for three months in 2012 , and around five months in 2020.

TURNING PAGES

'WHEN YOU ARE YOUNG, YOU LOVE TO HAVE MONEY'

There was a wedding in our village once. I was with a group of children. The point of sitting together was to play pranks. You could place the beard of a coconut on somebody's cap, or put pebbles in somebody's pocket or pinch someone without his knowing who did it. When alms were distributed, some boys held out their hands. I followed suit without thinking. Not that I thought I was doing anything wrong. When you are young, you love to have money clinking in your hands. I came home excitedly with the two annas I was given. I ran to Aai to give her the money as though I had earned it with my own labour. Priests study for twelve years to learn the intricacies of rituals. Alms are their right and reward. People like us should work and earn money. That brings us respect. Aai said, 'Where did you get this money?' I said, 'During the vangnishchay.' Aai's face fell. She looked deeply embarrassed. Did she think I had held my hand out for money because we had become poor? Or that the family priest offered me the money out of pity? Normally, if a boy from a well-to-do family held his hand out, the family priest would say, 'Don't be silly. Aren't you from the Dongre family?'

Why had the priest not said that to her son? Surely it was because he pitied me. There is nothing more humiliating than being the object of somebody's pity. Aai's mind was whirring with many such thoughts. But she did not say a word to me. She just stared into space. 'Aai, why don't you take the money? I didn't steal it,'

I pleaded. Aai said, 'Shyam, we may be poor, but we work for our living. We are not priests. They have no means. They have no lands. They only do religious work. Alms are their only income.'

'Pandurang bhatji is so rich. Why should he accept alms? He lends money on interest. He has fields.

What kind of a priest is he then?' 'The wrong kind,' Aai said. 'In the old days, if a priest had surplus in Pandav Pratap gave a lot of wealth to a priest, who gave it away on his way home. Rishis taught their disciples free of charge. So don't ever hold your hand out for alms again. We are supposed to give to the world, not take from it.'

'Aai gave the two annas away to Balu, a poor servant. Friends, the more we take from the world, the more we grow accustomed to bowing and scraping and the more pathetic and dependent we become. We look abjectly to others for support. It is a sin to demean ourselves. But it is also a sin to think too highly of ourselves. We must not become dependent on others. European children are taught to be independent from a young age. They consider it below their dignity to live off their parents' money. I've heard a story about President Hoover's son. True or false, this is how it goes.

When Hoover became president of America, the wealthiest country in the world, his thirteen-year-old son was working on a construction site as a mason's assistant. The boy is said to have fallen off the building and died. Sorrowful though Hoover was, he said, 'My son died teaching the country the importance of independence and the dignity of labour.'

The vaccine conundrum

For nearly a year, this column has been discussing the myriad effects of the pandemic on our daily lives. While the rest of the world spoke about the dip in economies and productivity, Yours Truly decided to write about the smaller, unspoken effects of the pandemic, like the lack of haircuts, and the starving of stray dogs.

Over the last month, the presence of two Covid vaccinations that have been approved in India have raised another point of debate among Indians. For months, we were waiting anxiously for the vaccine to arrive. And when they finally did, we are left asking ourselves – which vaccine to take.

I did some research and was pleasantly surprised to find that apart from cricket, India is also a powerhouse when it comes to vaccines. India is home to about 60 per cent of the vaccines produced in the world, and also helps a large number of countries reach their immunisation goals. While businesses and start-ups were still getting familiar with the 'Make in India' scheme, biotech companies have been following the precept for decades now. I also learnt that India's immunisation programme is the largest in the world, and India's vaccines have been shipped to neighbouring nations like Maldives, Bhutan, Bangladesh, Nepal and Sri Lanka. For years, I thought India's greatest export was Himesh Reshammiya. Even for a cynic like me, the above facts made me feel proud of our country.

For those living under a rock, India now has two vaccines ready for public consumption. The Covaxin – developed indigenously by Bharat Biotech, and Covishield – developed by the Serum Institute of India. In a parallel world, those names would never find a mention in a humour column. And yet, here we are!

Admittedly, I have no knowledge of science and technology. I once used a shampoo that had milk extracts in it, and a conditioner that had fruit extracts in it. I was worried that my hair might curdle up from mixing the two ingredients. As a layman to science and virology, I was happy that the vaccines were finally showing up.

But it was only when I began speaking to people for this column that I realised the varying responses to India's vaccines. A lot of well-off, educated people were hesitant to take the vaccine as they weren't sure about the after-effects of taking the doses. Others waxed eloquent about the vaccines and their efficacy levels and trial phases. But my favourite response was from urban folks who replied with 'I don't want to take the Indian vaccine; I'll wait for the UK vaccine to arrive'. Listening to such responses, you'd assume we were not discussing a vaccine, but the latest iPhone model!

Yours Truly, dear reader, has always been a person who toed the line. When I was asked to stay home, I did. When I was asked to wear a mask, I duly complied. Now that the vaccine is out, I am fine with either of the vaccines. As someone who grew up in rural Odisha, my natural tendency is to take a vaccine when it is distributed in public.

I wish I could argue about the benefits and negatives of each of the vaccines. But I shall leave those debates to the experts, and stick to what I know best – poor jokes and deadly puns. After all the troubles brought about by a global pandemic last year, the vaccines are finally a...shot in the arm!

It's a blessing to get such a subject: Rukmini Vasanth

The actor, who made her debut with Birbal Trilogy, recalls how she bagged the lead role in Rakhit Shetty-Hemanth M Rao's Sapta Sagaradaache Yello

A SHARADHAA

RUKMINI Vasanth has bagged the female lead role in the Rakshit Shetty-starrer Sapta Sagaradaache Yello, which is being directed by Hemanth M Rao. The newcomer in Sandalwood made her acting debut with MG Srinivas's Birbal Trilogy, and this will be her second outing. The team has confirmed that Rukmini is coming on board.

Calling it as a big break, she says, "I am super excited to be associated with stalwarts like Rakshit Shetty, director Hemanth Rao and producer Pushkar Mallikarjunaiah. It might sound cliched, but it is a dream come true." The film is a romantic drama. "It was sometime in March that Hemanth and the production house announced this project. In October, the makers began conducting auditions for various characters, including the heroine. That's when I took the initiative and sent a message to Hemanth, expressing my interest in attending the audition. Fortunately, within 10 days, I got a reply from the director asking me to mail the details about myself. From there, the audition process began, and finally, I am on board," recalls Rukmini, adding that while her approach was unusual, she is glad that she took the chance. "I just wanted to be a part of a good project, and it was nice of Hemanth to consider my request. Also, the content was very important to me, and in his previous interviews, Hemanth had mentioned that the heroine will have an intensive role to perform. I was looking to play such a character. After I heard the script, I felt that it is a blessing to get such a subject," she adds. Rukmini, who recently watched Rakshit Shetty's Uliduvaru Kandanthe, is looking forward to working with him now. "The kind of details he puts in each scene and his character is what makes it realistic," she says. The actor took a while to finalise her next after Birbal..., but now she has also bagged a film by Upendra-Shashank. "However, it got pushed ahead because of the coronavirus outbreak," she says.

Sapta Sagaradaache Yello will feature Rakshit in two shades. The actor, who has completed shooting for 777 Charlie, will undergo a make-over before he begins filming Hemanth's directorial. The film, made under the banner of Pushkar Films, has music director Charan Raj and cinematographer Advaitha Gurumurthy as part of the cast.

'Democracy is when you have freedom of expression'

.... says Richa Chadha as she speaks about the state of artistic freedom in India and exploring her 'softer side' with Lahore Confidential

SHILAJIT MITRA

CONTEMPORARY actors with a literary bent are hard to come by. An exception would be Richa Chadha, who's often spoken about her love for Hindi and Urdu literature, and whose interests have come to cinematic fruition in her next. Releasing on ZEE5 this week, Kunal Kohli's Lahore Confidential is about an Indian woman who's sent on intelligence duty to Pakistan. While on mission, she falls for a charismatic man (Arunodoy Singh) who shares her fondness for Urdu poetry.

Mixing espionage with romance, Lahore Confidential is Richa's fourth release in a short while. She was recently seen in the biopic Shakeela, the political drama Madam Chief Minister and the short film 55 km/sec.

We spoke to Richa about her frantic release spree, exploring her 'softer side' with Lahore Confidential, and the uncertainty over artistic freedom in India.

You've hit the ground running in 2021. Was it always planned this way?
I'd been working nonstop for the past two to three years. Everything I did was slated to come out in 2020 — but then we know what happened. For instance, Madam Chief Minister was supposed to come in August last year but had to be pushed. So all that backlog is now clearing. In fact, I have another big Netflix release coming up as well.

Lahore Confidential* appears to follow a classic template. What drew you on board for the film?
I was excited to play the part of an ordinary woman who's sent on a challenging mission. People keep telling me that I only play strong characters. I mostly get the smart, conniving parts (laughs). I hadn't played someone who's also vulnerable and confused. Sometimes when you try to do a softer part, it can backfire with people saying 'apne isme acting nahi kiya' (you didn't act in this one).

Who are some of your favorite Urdu poets?
I love Faiz Ahmad Faiz, Josh Malihabadi, Iqbal, Ghalib.... There's also Nida Fazli, another beautiful contemporary poet who passed away recently. I love that era when people could respond with a nice couplet and it would get the point across and also sting. My co-star, Arunoday, loves to write poetry in English and it was great to have someone to jam with.

Madam Chief Minister* stirred a debate over Dalit representation in Bollywood. There were also threats of physical violence against you.
About Madam Chief Minister, I do think we were at fault with the first poster. I kept waiting for official communication to go out regarding that. It was only once my director (Subhash Kapoor) spoke about it that I stepped in and expressed my thoughts.

I do feel some of the anger over the poster was valid. But the other stuff like tongue-cutting and death threats don't rattle me. They were really from two-bit politicians seeking publicity. A dangerous precedent of that was set some years ago when someone got a lot of publicity on Deepika's behalf. So I did not pay any heed to that.

You'd also tweeted about the Tandav situation. It seems certain subjects and characters are being deemed off the table for actors/storytellers.
I haven't watched Tandav yet because I've been shooting. But it is true that there is a growing sense of stifling of artistic freedom. Today, people can get arrested for a joke they are about to crack. I think stuff like that reflects poorly on us as a society. What is democracy if not a battle of culture? Democracy is when we have freedom of expression. When we don't, it leaves us in a tricky space.

What are your upcoming projects for the year?
Besides the Netflix film, I will start shooting for a new show (Candy with Ronit Roy). We'll also go on floors with the third installment of Fukrey. Then I'm doing another show which has not been announced. There's a lot of work lined up till September-October.
